● The True Wealth of a Nation depends on the produce of its soil and of its Factories.

AGRICULTURE

is the mainstay of the Nation

—the greatest source of National Wealth
—the greatest source of Employment

Agriculture is our most important industry. It affords most employment, the number of male workers engaged in it being well over half a million. It is also our greatest source of wealth, both actually and potentially. The value of the products of our agricultural industry is nearly four times that of all other industries and services combined. The soil of Ireland is more fertile than that of most countries, having an extraordinarily high rate of produce per acre. As the list of imports of agricultural produce set out below shows, there is scope for immense development, which should provide plentiful employment and add enormously to the national wealth.

IRISH WEEK
14th to 21st March

Shopkeepers

Have adequate stocks of goods ready for IRISH WEEK—14th to 21st March—Show them in your windows, put them prominently on your counters and shelves. Show them to your customers: Don't wait to be asked IS IT IRISH? Tell the public—particularly during IRISH WEEK. But—make every week an Irish Week.

Consumers

BUY IRISH, not only because they are Irish, but because they are good, and they provide employment for Irish workers on the farm and in the factory.

Join the National Agricultural and Industrial Development Association and help this live organisation to extend its work. We supply the public with information on all industrial matters We put traders in touch with Irish sources of supply. We assist Manufacturers to find new markets. We display their goods in our Permanent Exhibition. We fight their battles wherever they are unfairly treated. We stand for the encouragement of agriculture. Every Irish citizen should be a member.

SUBSCRIPTIONS: Private members—(minimum) 10/- per annum, Manufacturers and Traders (minimum) £2 2s. per annum,

SOME FACTS ABOUT OUR AGRICULTURAL INDUSTRY

Agriculture.

The value of Saorstat Eireann's total output of crops and turf in 1926, when the agricultural census of production was taken, was estimated at £45,687,000, and that of live stock and live stock products at £50,555,000. As prices have since fallen considerably the present value in money is much less.

Irish Bacon Curing employs 2,200 workers of whom 1,700 are men. Their salaries and wages amount to £336,000.

Butter.

The production of Butter and margarine find work for 3,200 persons, 2,750 being men. Their salaries and wages amount to £378,000.

We import enormous quantities of bacon, butter, eggs, cream, condensed milk, poultry, lard, margarine, etc. Yet the highest qualities of these goods are produced in Ireland. Why import inferior goods?

Vegetables.

We import vegetables—potatoes, onions, tomatoes, etc., to the value of £358,000. These could be produced in Ireland and the money kept at home.

Miscellaneous.

We buy £1,265,000 worth of sugar from abroad.

We import flowers, plants, trees, shrubs, seeds for sowing, starch, potato flour, etc., in considerable amounts. In addition we import nearly half a million pounds worth of leather (dressed and undressed) and quantities of tallow, hides and skins, and raw wool. A fully developed agricultural industry would render these imports unnecessary. We also import considerable quantities of timber, but re-afforestation on an extensive scale is necessary before this can be remedied.

Cereals and Feeding Stuffs for Animals.

We import more than nine million pounds worth of cereals and cereal products. With proper organisation and in the course of a few years we could largely supply these for ourselves.

There is no need whatever to import Flour, even if, at present we must import wheat. Flour to the value of £3,000,000 is milled in Saorstat Eireann, and wheat products—meal, bran, pollard etc.—are valued at another million.

The value of the Irish grown wheat milled in the country is only £30,000. The total number of workers engaged in grain milling of all kinds is about 2,500 and the amount of salaries and wages is £450,000.

We can surely grow oats and barley sufficient for our own needs, yet as will be seen our imports are nearly half a million pounds worth. Cereals of native origin could gradually be substituted for maize of which we import £3,700,000 worth and the £11,000,000 we at present spend on imported grain saved to the Nation. Our tillage would increase by hundreds of thousands of acres, our farming population would be fully employed and prosperous, makers of agricultural machinery and of fertilisers would benefit immediately and the workers engaged in all other industries and services would increase as a result of the increasing productivity of the land.

Fruit.

We import more than £360,000 worth of fruit and fruit pulp and juice which could be produced in Ireland.

This is exclusive of such fruits as bananas, oranges, grapes, and dried fruits, which we import to the value of more than £500,000.

If Saorstat Eireann produced all its agricultural requirements sixteen or eighteen million pounds that now leave the country each year could be kept at home. There would be employment for many thousands of extra workers, not only in agricultural and allied industries, but in every branch of industrial activity. For the extra spending power of the agricultural community would lead to increased prosperity in every village, town and city.

Do your part to bring this about. Help to stop the drain of Ireland's wealth.

We Import Agricultural products value £16,000,000 all of which could be produced at home.

A priceless gem I miss to-day
Thy valued presence here,
A mother's love, the kindly word
I never more shall hear.
Although I miss thy tender care,
So loving, kind, and true,
Our mother's hand upon our brow
Is leading us to Jesus now.

STEDMAN—Second Anniversary — In loving memory of our dear mother, Louisa Stedman, who died on the 5th of March, 1930.

Days of sadness still creep o'er us,
Secret tears do often flow,
Your memory, dear mother, is always with us,
Though you died two years ago.
Inserted by George and Maggie.

Consolidated with the Matter of
JOHN AIKEN, Owner;
ANTHONY CASSIDY, Petitioner;
CHARLES HENRY JAMES and LUCIUS HENRY DEERING, Official Assignees, and WILLIAM WILSON, Creditors' Assignee of the said John Aiken, a Bankrupt, Owners;
Further consolidated with the Matter of the Estate of JOHN A. MACONCHY and ALEXANDER KNOX McENTIRE, Official Assignees, and WILLIAM WILSON, Creditors' Assignee of John Aiken, a Bankrupt, Owners and Petitioners.

All persons claiming to be interested in a sum of £308 4s. 9d. Irish Free State 5% National Loan, 1935-1945, and dividends accrued from December, 1928, inclusive, and in a sum of £269 4s. 4d. New Consols, and dividends accrued from July, 1919, inclusive, standing to credit of this matter with the Accountant, Four Courts, Dublin, affecting income arising out of the Towns and Lands of Roscor and Sheridan, in the Barony of East Omagh and County of Tyrone; the Towns and Lands of Sheridan, Brenanbun, Greaghnagally, otherwise Parkhill, Aughagaffer, otherwise Aughagaffert, otherwise Aughagaffort, and Raw, all situate in the Barony of Lurg and County of Fermanagh are, by their Solicitors, to enter their claims in Room 24, Central Office, Four Courts, Dublin, on or before the 7th day of April, 1932, and they are to prove their claims by the same date, or, in default, the moneys at present standing to the credit of the said suit, as above, will be forthwith allocated and paid out to the claimant, as below, having regard only to such claims as may be received, as above.

Dater 29th day of February, 1932.

Notice of Sitting for Proof of Debts.—21.
SAORSTAT EIREANN.
HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.
IN BANKRUPTCY.
In the Matter of
THOMAS KENNEDY, of Austin Friars street, Mullingar, County Westmeath, Grocer and Provision Merchant, A Bankrupt.

A Public Sitting in this Matter will be held before the Registrar at the Law Courts, Inn's quay, Dublin, on Tuesday, the 22nd day of March, 1932, at the hour of 11 o'clock forenoon, for the proof and admission of debts and for the vouching of the Official Assignee's account.

A creditor may prove his debt at the Sitting, or send his affidavit of debt in the prescribed form or his detailed account to the undernamed Official Assignee four days previously to the Sitting in order to have the same admitted. Owing to the destruction of papers in the burning of the Four Courts all proofs of debt and records of claims sent to the Official Assignee before May, 1922, have been destroyed, and therefore a creditor who sent in a claim before that date must now send in a duplicate; otherwise the Court can have no knowledge of his demand.

Dated this 29th day of February, 1932.
JOHN C. MARLOWE, Bankruptcy Clerk.
A. G. HOLLINSHEAD, Official Assignee, the Law Courts, Inns quay, Dublin.
JOHN R. PEART, Solicitor for the Assignees, 55 Dawson street, Dublin.

NOTICE OF CHARITABLE DONATIONS AND BEQUESTS.
JOHN P. MULLIGAN, late of The Walk, Roscommon, in the County of Roscommon, Land Owner, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to 30 and 31 Vic., Cap. 54, that the above-named Deceased, by his Will dated 16th day of March, 1927, after making various bequests, bequeathed the following legacies:—

To the Magdalen Home, Galway, £100.
To the Sisters of Nazareth, where his niece, Winifred Mulligan, might be stationed, £200.
To the Rev. James Mulligan, £500 for Masses to be said in public for the repose of his soul and the souls of his wife and of his deceased relatives and friends.
To the Lord Abbot for the time being of Mount Melleray, Waterford, and to the Lord Abbot for the time being of Mount Saint Joseph's at Roscrea the sum of £100 each for Masses to be said in public for the repose of his soul and the souls of his wife and of his deceased relatives and friends, the Honorarium for each Mass to be computed at ten shillings.
To the Hospital for Incurables, Dublin, £100.

The said Testator died on the 24th day of November, 1931, without having altered or revoked said Will, and Probate of the said Will was, on the 5th day of February, 1932, granted forth of the Principal Registry of the High Court of Justice, Saorstát Eireann, to Bernard Mulligan, of The Walk, Roscommon, in the County of Roscommon, one of the Executors named therein.

Dated this 5th day of March, 1932.
D. and T. FITZGERALD, Solicitors for the said Executor, 20 St. Andrew street, Dublin.

To the Commissioners of Charitable Donations and Bequests in Saorstát Eireann, and all others whom it may concern.

Good Reasons why you should buy
EMERALD FLOUR
It is ideal for home baking, and always gives splendid results. Money spent on it goes into Irish workers' pockets and stays in Ireland.
The more Irish flour used the more bran and pollard for the farmer, and the lower the price.
SHOPKEEPERS—Stock and push this splendid flour, and you'll make satisfied customers and help your country, too.

SMALL SALADING.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Garden Correspondent says:—

Those fortunate in having Lettuce plants of such hardy kinds as Green Hammersmith or Stanstead Park of the Cabbage lettuce tribe, surviving the winter more a question this year of slugs than of frost—present transplanting to a highly manured, sheltered spot will be repaid for their trouble, and, with the advantage of frame or greenhouse, present sowing of a box of All the Year Round, the thinnings of which are quite negotiable for use, will help matters. From now hence a fortnightly sowing of French Breakfast Radish will be made, merely a thimbleful of seed on a little bed a yard square, and protected from finches, who flatter themselves that the pungent seeds are for their especial benefit. Raphanus caudatus, the rat-tailed Radish, sown in April, is worth having for its two-feet-long seed pods, which, used while young and tender, are a toothsome novelty.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.

OLD WOMAN'S DEATH.

SON FOUND GUILTY, BUT INSANE.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH.)

Put on trial for the murder of his mother, Bridget Foley, at their home in Bunduff, Co. Sligo, on the 12th January last, Hugh Foley, aged 45 years, was found guilty, but insane, and was ordered to be detained in Dundrum Criminal Lunatic Asylum during the pleasure of the Irish Free State.

The prisoner had been in a mental hospital before, and it was alleged that he had been following his mother about accusing her of being responsible for his condition. Her body was later found battered and ripped with a razor.

Dr. Swann, medical officer, Sligo Prison, said that for about thirty-six hours the prisoner did not rest, although given large doses of bromide. He attacked some of his associates in the prison and injured himself slightly.

MENACING LETTERS.

Hugh Quigley, a native of Co. Longford, who, on the first day of the sitting, pleaded guilty to demanding money by menacing letters from a farmer named Edward Cooney, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

The Court adjourned until Monday morning.

DUBLIN CIRCUIT COURT.

INJURY TO PICTURES.

DEALER'S ACTION AFTER NOTICE TO QUIT.

(BEFORE JUDGE SHANNON.)

Jacob Shrago, picture dealer, 81 Lower Leeson street, sued the Dublin Craftworkers for £100 damages for injury done to a quantity of his stock of pictures and frames which he had stored at the rear of 39 Harcourt street.

The case for the plaintiff was that in July, 1929, he became tenant of a room at 39 Harcourt street at 10s. a week. He got possession of a shed at the back, and into that he put a lot of prints and frames. In May, 1931, Mr. McBride, manager for the Craftworks, told him that they were going to make a passage through his room, and that he must remove himself and his property. Having been absent for a while, he found on his return that all the boxes and picture frames had been put out into the open yard. The goods were badly damaged by rain.

Mr. William McBride said that he had given a room to Mr. Shrago temporarily, with the understanding that when the previous and continuing tenant, Mr. Peyton, a carver, who was in the country, returned, Mr. Shrago should vacate the place. Mr. Shrago put the goods on a loft at the back, the roof of which was broken, and the doors and windows were in a delapidated condition. He gave Mr. Shrago notice that the shed was about to be pulled down, but Mr. Shrago did not leave. He got final notice in May, 1931.

The Judge dismissed the case, with costs, holding that the damage that was done was unavoidable.

Mr. F. Sherry (instructed by Mr. Herman Good) appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. D. Fawsitt (instructed by Messrs. Little, O hUadhaigh and Proud) for the defendants.

A £43,000 ESTATE.

WATERFORD WOMAN'S WILL.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE JOHNSTON.)

The hearing of the case of the National City Bank, Ltd., Dublin, against Mrs. Aileen Mary Ellis, of Belline, Piltown, Co. Kilkenny; Mrs. Joan Pauline Power, of Bellevue, near Waterford, and others was concluded.

The plaintiffs, as executors and trustees of the will of Mrs. Caroline Bate Power, late of Bellevue, near Waterford, sought to have the will construed by the Court. It was stated that the estate of the late Mrs. Power was valued at about £43,000.

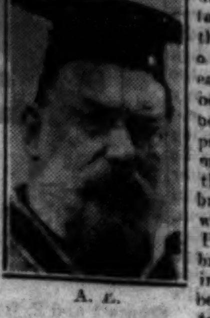
Mr. Lavery, K.C., and Mr. T. P. McCarthy (instructed by Messrs. Kenny and Stephenson) appeared for the plaintiffs; Mr. Overend, K.C., and Mr. Budd (instructed by Messrs. Kenny and Stephenson) for Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Power; and Mr. A. R. Power, Mr. Gavan Duffy, K.C., and Mr. Dixon (instructed by Messrs. Kenny and Stephenson) for Struan, A. L. Ellis, all legatees under the will; and Mr. McCann, K.C., and Mr. Ignatius J. Kelly (instructed by Messrs. A. Hagan and Son) for other defendants.

Mr. Justice Johnston reserved judgment.

BOOKS OF THE WEEK

THE SOURCE OF SONG.

Song and Its Fountains. By A.E. London: Macmillan. 5/- net.



A. E.

THE source of song, says A.E., lies in the psyche, in a centre of consciousness beyond the sphere of dream, ever waking and ever conscious, a spirit thing which has grown up and taken "its abode in the body with its other inhabitants, earth-born or heaven-born." While the body sleeps, the psyche is awake, mirroring and seizing the eternal things, to breathe them into the waking consciousness. Poems are "oracles" breathed from the inner to the outer being. "I think all true poetry was conceived on the Mount of Transfiguration, and there is revelation in it and the mingling of heaven and earth. The Mount is a symbol for that peak of soul when, gone inward into itself, it draws nigh to its own divine root, and memory and imagination are shot through and through with the radiance of another nature."

Some will say that A.E.'s doctrine of poetry is whirling theory; others that it is nothing more than the old doctrine of the divine afflatus. His book, however, is more than a statement of theory; for he substantiates the effort to trace the source of poetry by reference to his own poems. A.E. sets upon his task with a fine, proud sincerity and a confident humility. Retracing his life by "a meditation the ancient sages spoke of," he tells, he came to the day when the æsthetic sense was born in him: he brings back and lives in the visions lying behind his separate poems. So he quotes poems that were hurled from the seeing and recording psyche upon the waking consciousness almost too rapidly for the hasty pen to record them; other poems where the vision, lying dormant, was communicated only in after-years.

"Inspiration," perhaps, will serve as a handy label; but it has never been defined or clarified, and A.E.'s theory is the first to make the old word mean anything. It may be that he has laid too little stress upon the function of the craftsman that comes into play when the communication of the psyche has been made. That, however, is the least part of genius. Is not the poet, therefore, he who by nature or by schooling of the mind has purified the psyche, so that the commerce between it and the conscious being is clearest and easiest? That commerce is clear in the work of all great poets. It is confessed by Wordsworth:

> "The sounding cataract
> Haunted me like a passion,"

and it shines through the whole Immortality Ode. Does it not lend a new truth—A.E. tells how the vision and the very words wherewith to clothe them darted into his consciousness at the moment when he awoke from sleep—to the old legend of the germination of Kubla Khan?

Nobody has ever written a more sincere and, we believe, a sounder account of the poetical process; A.E. has lighted a new lamp for lovers of poetry. If he had given nothing more to the world than this little book, he would still have earned its gratitude a hundredfold. Would that other poets had left similar memorials.

POLICE WORK IN RUSSIA

The Secret Dossier. By Vladimir Orloff. London: Harrap. 8/6 net.

FOR a few years before the War stories of German espionage were very popular, and served the double purpose of making our flesh creep in an agreeable way, while they provided a warning of the sinister preparations afoot in Europe. Since the revolution in Russia their place has been taken by accounts of political and secret service activities in that mysterious country, and Vladimir Orloff's book is as entertaining as any other in this class that we have read. In the form of brief and vigorously written sketches his memoirs describe some of the momentous happenings in recent Russian history both during the Romanoff régime and after its disappearance. Orloff is entitled to claim first-hand knowledge, and, indeed, has played a leading part in a number of events which he relates.

An introductory note explains that the author held various legal offices from 1905 until the outbreak of war, when he was attached to headquarters as Military Attorney-General. After the Soviet system had been established he became president of a criminal commission in Petrograd under an assumed name, and by virtue of this appointment saved the lives of a large number of White Army officers. The discovery of his real identity caused his flight to Finland in 1918, and he has been occupied subsequently with intelligence work in Germany and in studying the legal aspect of Bolshevism. Orloff's pen portraits of Bolshevist notabilities are not lacking in severity.

AGRICULTURE IN ENGLAND.

Land and Life: The Economic National Policy for Agriculture. By Viscount Astor and Keith Murray. London: Gollancz. 5/- net.

INDUSTRIAL England has her agricultural problem, and Viscount Astor and Dr. Keith Murray, having made a detailed examination of it, here present their solution. It is not without interest for Irish readers, although Irish farmers are in some ways much in advance of their English brothers, and the incidence of the problem is varied by local conditions.

The work deals with the problem in a scientific manner, making first a general survey and then considering the essentials of a constructive and continuous national policy for the re-establishment of agriculture not only as an occupation for farmers, but as a means of a national defence upon the grounds of food supply, trade and finance.

The relative value, from both points of view, of large farms as against small holdings; means to increase production; the quality of live-stock, meat, poultry, eggs, fruits, vegetables, dairy products and grain; the advisability of subsidies for wheat and sugar beet; the systems of land tenure and of death duties are topics which are fully and carefully considered, with the assistance of statistics and diagrams.

RECENT FICTION.

The Seven Stars. By Andre Malvil. Macmillan. 7/6 net.
Summer Storm. By Jeffery Marston. Geoffrey Bles. 7/6 net.
A Kiss on the Lips. By Susannah Pritchard. Cape. 7/6 net.
Paul and Perdita. By Catherine I. Dodd. Jarrolds. 7/6 net.
Of Unsound Mind. By E. Tangye Lean. Cobden Sanderson. 7/6 net.

"The Seven Stars" is a strange book. Written in the first person singular, it is introspective to a high degree. The tale has been told, supposedly, by a Frenchman who lived, at last, as a hermit upon Inismore, off County Galway; who refused to give his name to the islanders, and died there after some years. It is the story of a desperate and an unhappy quest for truth, especially for truth concerning death; the hero holds long conversations with dying people, but does not learn very much. The latter part of the story contains some beautiful descriptions of the sea that surrounds the island of Inismore. Of a calm sea, that just moves against the rocks, Monsieur Malvil writes that it "slept like a child with its thumb in its mouth." The love story of Vivien and the hero is charming.

A "summer storm" caused a good deal of discomfort to the Rexon family, who had bought the old farm house at Teagle's End, and had "made it over" to their own satisfaction. The master of the house was a flourishing publisher, who, apparently, made a large fortune out of the works of one hitherto unknown writer. The daughter of the house causes the summer storm by all sorts of complications in her married life, and by her insistence upon starting a new paper, whose brief life ends in disaster. The elder Rexon has to pay the piper fairly heavily before everything is put right, but at last everything is smoothed down and his discontented daughter comes to her senses. Teagle's End is a very attractive place, and its owners are attractive people.

In "A Kiss on the Lips" we have the first collection of short stories by the author of "Haxby's Circus." The title is strangely misleading; and the reader who expects a volume of erotic love stories will be surprised to find a collection of sturdy, open-air tales of Australian stock riders, mail coaches, bush towns, drovers, sheep, and drought, drought, drought. When the rain does come the reader feels a sense of relief, which is a tribute to Miss Pritchard's talent.

• • • • •

Miss Dodd's Lancashire heroine lived in the early years of the nineteenth century, when the English countryside was beginning to be drawn into the hungry maw of the big industrial towns. One toll gate still remained at that time in the immediate neighbourhood, but the old home, so well loved by Perdita, is pulled down to make room for something much less picturesque. She decides to be a school teacher, and goes to Eisenach, to Belgrade, and to Buda Pesth in order to study foreign methods of teaching. While abroad she meets again, and subsequently marries, a young man called Paul, who can draw the soul from a bush or a tree in a most alarming way. Frankly, this is an unnatural story, though at first it promises well.

• • • • •

Any reviewer must be grateful for the title of this first novel by a youth of twenty—"Of Unsound Mind." With frequent glances at the title, the reader can forge ahead in the sure knowledge that someone, probably the hero, Julian Hallowes, is not responsible for his actions—that, in fact, he is of unsound mind. From school, Julian goes to a pension in Tours; then back to a father who would make any youth act queerly; and finally to Oxford. Yet Mr. Lean can write, even when he writes of such vague, uncertain things.

THE VALUE OF MANCHURIA.

Manchuria, the Cockpit of Asia. By Colonel P. T. Etherton and H. Hessell Tiltman. London: Jarrolds. 12/6 net.

THE dramatic series of events during recent months has attracted European attention to Manchuria, and the action of Japan in occupying virtually the whole of three Chinese provinces has aroused universal interest and concern. To understand clearly the motives underlying Japanese policy, and how it is at variance with the ambitions of other States, one must have some idea of the political and economic history of Manchuria for the past half-century, and realise the extent and importance of its resources. For such a study the work under review is authoritative and admirable. Colonel Etherton was formerly a British Consul-General in Chinese Turkestan and Assistant Judge of the Supreme Court for China, and he and Mr. Tiltman have produced a brilliant account of Manchurian conditions. Their book is not only an excellent piece of work, but it relates a true story that is as enthralling as any novel. Holding no brief for either country, they set out to present impartially the arguments of both Chinese and Japanese.

The natural resources of Manchuria are very great, and, with the aid of foreign capital and the abundant supply of cheap labour available, progress in the past twenty years has been considerable. In agricultural activity the production of the soya-bean and its by-products forms the basis of the country's prosperity, and amounts to 60 per cent. of the entire exports. Next in importance are millet, wheat, barley, oats and rice, and the cereal total in 1929 of 876 million bushels was achieved by the cultivation of only one-quarter of the arable resources. With regard to minerals, it is estimated that 1,700 million tons of coal and 400 million tons of iron are workable; there exist also deposits of shale oil, magnesite, fireclay, talc, gold, copper, lead, barytes, feldspar and asbestos. There are extensive timber areas, and some valuable fishing, fur and salt industries. Under Japanese guidance a large number of factories has been established—those for silk, cotton and tobacco may be mentioned. All these factors contribute to the view of Japan, that Manchuria is essential "as an outlet for the energies of her overcrowded professional classes, a virgin field for the brains of her industrialists, for the investment of her capital, and, most vital of all, as a reservoir of the food and raw materials which are the mainspring of the Japanese nation, which, be it remembered, must import one-fifth of the food needed for her people."

The remarkable progress of Manchuria is due mainly to the development of the railways, of which one of the most important is the South Manchurian. Controlled by the Japanese, this railway company is really a corporation engaged in various public works, and serves Dairen-Dalny, one of the busiest ports in the world. The Chinese Eastern Railway is operated under Chino-Russian joint management, and runs from Siberia through Central Manchuria to Harbin and thence to Vladivostok, on the coast. A serious crisis occurred in 1929, when the Manchurian Governor seized this railway and arrested a number of Soviet officials. Raids on Russian territory and other provocative acts aggravated the situation, and in November a Soviet military force was sent across the border. Chinese resistance collapsed immediately, and when a settlement had been reached the Russian troops were at once withdrawn. The authors point out that "the events enumerated above have for two reasons an important bearing upon the recent history of Manchuria. Not only did the dispute of 1929 show that Moscow, at the moment at any rate, has no ambitions of territorial conquest in that region. They also formed a precedent for Japan two years later, if she had been willing to restrict her display of armed force to securing the redress of grievances."

In a final chapter on the future of Manchuria the authors express the opinion that Japan has no intention of relinquishing her dominant position; for such action would mean her economic extinction as a world Power.

Three Loves. By A. J. Cronin. Victor Gollancz. 8/6 net.

THOSE who truly realised the quality of "Hatter's Castle," equally with those who were merely swept off their feet by Dr. Cronin's first novel, are not likely to be disappointed by his second book; for "Three Loves" has all the merits, just as it has most of the defects, of the earlier work. It is not possible, however, to regard this book as a second effort after the fashion in which the second book of a writer, who has made a sudden success, is generally approached. Dr. Cronin was too big a man from the very beginning to write another book that would be less than good.

"Three Loves" is a fine book, although one would hesitate to call it "great." It has too many faults for that, but it is essentially on the grand scale; and although one may fully realise the slovenliness into which the actual writing sometimes falls—its occasional raggedness of characterisation and its frequent melodrama—one is forced to feel also how magnificently it succeeds, in spite of these defects. It rises into power, faults and all, like some work by Dickens, or any of the great Victorians; for, although Dr. Cronin looks at life like many a novelist of our own day, he enlarges all that outlook in the rich and memorable manner of the great masters of fiction.

In this book he set himself a much more difficult task than that which engaged him in "Hatter's Castle." The "hero" of the first book had a sweep and force that seemed to drive the story before him through all its vicissitudes to its relentless end. In the second story there is a "heroine" who comes on to the stage calmly enough, and, out of her own character, as it quietly unfolds, makes her own enormous tragedy. She is not a pleasant character, yet, she survives as an heroic figure. As one reads the book it seems to lack something—perhaps, that sense of awakened pity, which ought to accompany the truly tragic. Yet, when the book is closed and the character begins to take root in the memory, the sense of pity comes, and perhaps more surely than if the author had striven consciously to assist its coming. In "Hatter's Castle" there was a simple theme which came to no great subtlety at any point. In "Three Loves" he has tried to tell us what love is.

Lucy Moore had three loves in her life, husband, son and God. She had every attribute of faithfulness and sacrifice, and yet one wonders all through her story if she ever really loved at all. Still, through consideration of her case and in the light of her complex character, one comes at length to understanding. At least, through her, one realises the pity of love, and in the memory she reaches an atonement and an apotheosis.

By the measure of their respective themes, even if the treatment showed only an equal adequacy, one would be obliged to place "Three Loves" higher than "Hatter's Castle." The second book is more truly powerful in that it is deeper and less violent. This is just what one had hoped to find in Dr. Cronin's second novel, and because it is there one can be certain now that in him a real novelist has arisen.

The Blunder. By E. W. Savi. Hurst and Blackett. 7/6 net.

This Anglo-Indian romance is a tale of prejudice and passion. It deals with a very beautiful young girl, who has been brought up in ignorance of her parentage. Her guardians have led her to believe that she is of Spanish descent, and she lives for many years under this impression. The time comes when she leaves school, where she has been loved by everybody. She begins at once to see life in true Anglo-Indian fashion.

A reader and a thinker, Larah Gay soon gets to know her world; in fact, she becomes at times so self-possessed as to be almost displeasing. From her early years she has taken a great interest in the problem of sex, and the knowledge of heredity so gained afterwards proves to be a big blow to her passionate pride.

This occurs when it transpires that her father is a Persian, and that in reality the whiteness and perfection of her skin are only due to a freak of nature. She knows that in all probability her children would be dusky. She learns, too, that her father is wanted by the authorities in connection with several hideous crimes, and it is pointed out to her that there is every danger of her progeny inheriting his objectionable characteristics. This intelligence effectually puts an end to a warm-blooded love affair with an English Government official, who among other things happens to be an appalling snob.

The story works itself to an effective conclusion, and the book is written in the true Savi manner.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY.

The Improvised Maypole : Civil Service Qualifications : March Meteors. Robert Blatchford : The Population Clock.

Our Street Maypoles.

Your reference (writes a correspondent) to the use of the streets as playgrounds for children brings the question again into prominence. Most of us are glad to see children enjoy themselves, but this is not the only aspect of the matter. Take, for instance, the maypole game, played by means of ropes on the lamp standards. Many a citizen has been "winded" by the impact of a youthful body wildly careering through the air, and some less steady have been bowled out. What really terrifies me, however, is the thought that some day a rope will break, and some cheery youngster will meet death or disablement under a passing 'bus. In New street particularly, to which you referred the other day, the thoroughfare is very narrow in parts, and I have seen these children whirl within inches of passing traffic. I have often warned them of the danger, but they laugh off the suggestion.

Robert Blatchford.

Not everybody knows that Mr. Robert Blatchford, who has celebrated his eighty-first birthday this week, was at one time a sergeant in the Royal Dublin Fusiliers.

A brush-maker's apprentice, he ran away at the age of eighteen, and, having held horses and run errands in London, took the Queen's shilling and joined the 103rd Royal Bombay Fusiliers. This regiment was shortly afterwards reformed, and became the Royal Dublin Fusiliers.

While he was stationed at Spike Island his period of service expired, and he showed no hesitation in taking the opportunity. He has told much of his early regimental days in his autobiography, and one does not wonder at his lack of hesitation. Life started at six o'clock in the morning. After half an hour he had to be on parade for an hour's hard pack drill. Then came breakfast—a pound of dry bread and a pint of coffee without milk or sugar. At one o'clock dinner, consisting, as a rule, of a quarter pound of meat in the form of a stew. Tea was the last meal in the day, when a pint of tea and half a pound of dry bread were served. Not even the French Legion of sensational romance fares harder than that; yet to this training Mr. Blatchford ascribes the health and vigour which he has always had, and still enjoys.

Smarter British Officials.

Mr. Joseph Devlin's recent reference to the fact that a candidate for the Northern Civil Service had been rejected because of his personal appearance reminds me that for certain posts in the British Civil Service greater attention is paid nowadays to personality and physique than in pre-war days. At one time the men who obtained the highest places in Civil Service competitive examinations secured the coveted posts. This sometimes resulted in the recruitment of most unsatisfactory specimen of manhood. Men who were mere bookworms, or had the "sponge" type of memory for mopping up facts and figures, sometimes topped the list. Most of these belonged to the C 3 physical category.

The Civil Service Commissioners have now changed their policy in selecting candidates for certain appointments. In the Customs and Excise, for example, a certain number of candidates are declared successful as a result of the written examination. These men are subsequently called before a selection board, where their manners, address, attainments, school records and recreations are carefully scrutinised. The success list is then compiled. It often happens that a man who was first in the literary examination is declared unsuccessful. The British revenue department is now, I understand, obtaining a better type of official than in former years. The new officers are keen, self-confident men, with plenty of personality.

Meteors in March.

The early part of March is very favourable for meteoric observations. One of the most important days in this respect is to-day, when there is a maximum about 11.25 p.m.; another comes at 1.40 a.m. on the 6th. On the 7th there are secondary maxima near 8 p.m. and shortly after 10 p.m., and on the 8th there is one at 9 p.m. One of the most important meteor showers of the month occurs on the morning of the 10th, but the principal maximum takes place at 7.40, and will consequently be visible chiefly over the American Continent. On the morning of the 12th there is another shower, with maxima about 2 and 4.15 respectively. These are followed by other maxima on the nights of the 12th and 13th, chiefly between 10 and 12.45.

The evenings and nights of the 16th and 17th are distinguished by a good deal of meteoric intensity. Maxima occurs at 3.40 a.m. on the 17th and about the same hour on the 18th. There are secondary maxima on the 23rd about 9 p.m., and on the 24th at 5.20 a.m. and 7.50 p.m. On the night of the 26th there is another shower, with the principal maximum about 27.1 a.m. The observer is supposed to face the East.

The Population Clock.

The census of population in these countries is taken every ten years, but in America they are so up-to-date that the population of the country at any given minute of the day can be obtained. This is done by means of the "population clock," surely the most interesting clock in the world. It records at every minute in the day the estimated total of the population of the whole United States, and it registers births, deaths and the arrival and departure of immigrants.

How is it done? The clock, which is kept, by the way, in the United States Census Bureau, is geared to record the changes which take place in the population. Calculations, based on the frequency of births, deaths and departures and arrivals have been made and averaged, and the clock is geared in accordance with these. Thus, in accordance with the computations of the last census in the United States, the clock registers a birth every fourteen seconds, and a death every twenty-two seconds. The arrival of an immigrant is registered every twelve minutes, and the departure of one every seven minutes. Every other event which is likely to affect the population is shown too, and so marvellous is the instrument that the approximate population of the vast area of the United States can be determined at any minute of the day, and with a great degree of accuracy.

Wireless in Mines.

A recent explosion in a Russian coal mine resulted in the temporary entombment of a number of workers, whose rescue was effected in a somewhat prophetic manner. A portable wireless set which they used to lighten their working hours was entombed with them. Somebody in the rescue party recalled the fact and informed the authorities. A message was immediately broadcast in the hope that the unfortunate men would pick it up. They did so, and were enabled to wait in the certainty that their release was inevitable. This suggests that the introduction of wireless into the equipment of all mines would be a move in the right direction.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY BOAT CLUB.

HILARY RACES "AT HOME."

Following the races earlier in the afternoon, the members of the Dublin University Boat Club held their annual Hilary term dance and "at home" in the Clubhouse, Islandbridge, Dublin, last evening. Shortly after 5 o'clock tea was served in the Long Room, after which the prizes were presented to the winning crews by Mr. Andrew Jameson. A very large gathering of members of the club and their friends had assembled, and, as is customary on these occasions, dancing was commenced, and a very enjoyable evening was spent until 10.30 p.m.

Among those present were :—

Mr. D. J. Gargan (captain), Mr. J. A. Gargan, Right Hon. Andrew Jameson and Mrs. Jameson, Mrs. Luce, Captain and Mrs. Shaw, Mr. M. Gibbon, Mr. R. S. Fairlie, Mr. H. F. McCullagh, Miss Violet Robinson, Mr. J. A. Robinson, Miss Cooper, Miss Val Rosa, Miss Kitty Sherlock, Mr. J. E. de B. White, Mr. D. D. Craig, Mr. G. S. Friel, Misses Gargan, Mr. R. J. O'Neill, Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Haughton, Miss Haughton, Mr. S. Haughton, Mr. Craig Martin, Dr. R. E. Steen, Miss Steen, Miss French, Miss Franklin, Miss Pollock, Mr. J. A. Shillington (hon. secretary), Mr. H. Wright, Mr. H. Carson, Mr. D. McGillycuddy, Mr. M. E. I. Harvey, Mr. E. A. Babington, Mr. H. Owens, Mr. K. O'Toole, Mr. F. McGinnis, Mr. J. G. McClintock, Mr. C. L. Cooper, Mr. S. Boothman, Mr. M. Horan, Mr. J. O. Wisdom, Mr. S. G. O'Neill, Mr. J. C. Conroy, Miss P. Mahony, Miss J. Stanley, Mr. J. C. P. Anderson, Miss H. Ellis, Mr. P. Craig Martin, Miss O'Toole, Mr. P. Jæfroy, Miss S. Bonar, Miss Riddell, Miss McDonnell, Mr. G. F. Harris, Mr. R. Boscombe, Mr. and Mrs. Fitzroy Pyle, Miss Rigall, and Mademoiselle Guilleret.

THE LANE PICTURES.

CLAIM COMMITTEE'S SUBMISSION.

THE Lane Bequest Claim Committee of the Dublin Corporation will submit at the next meeting of the Municipal Council a report, which concludes with the statement:

"We are of opinion that the time now has come to make a formal demand for the return of the pictures"—that is, of the thirty-nine Lane bequest pictures, which are now in the Tate Gallery, London.

The report shows that 1,563 copies of the booklet, which was prepared by the Curator, Mr. J. J. Reynolds, have been issued to the British Prime Minister, the other Ministers of State, and the members of both Houses of the British Parliament, as well as to all persons in any way concerned, and also to the English and Scottish Press.

The Curator, in his report in this booklet, says: "It is a somewhat remarkable fact, especially compared with former experiences, that no rebutting arguments to the Corporations claim were adduced."

The building work of the new Gallery at Parnell square will be completed in September, and the Committee hope to open the Gallery to the public before the end of this year.

DUBLIN LITERARY SOCIETY.

At a meeting of the Dublin Literary Society held last night at Lincoln Chambers, Professor Magennis presiding, an address was delivered by "John Brennan" on "Jonathan Swift."

She dealt at length with the condition of affairs that existed in Ireland in the Dean's time, and the great work he had done to put an end to the coercion which then prevailed. She spoke of his advocacy for the support of Irish manufacture, and what he had done to prevent the importation of foreign goods and in furtherance of the Non-importation League, which was followed by the Irish Volunteer movement. As a result of his activity English goods were boycotted and even burned by the people of Dublin. The same thing was now occuring in India.

FREE STATE TELEPHONES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I recently asked the Department of Posts and Telegraphs to supply me with a telephone. This house is about one hundred yards from the main Cork-Clonakilty road, and recently the Shannon scheme undertook the supply of electric current from a transmission line some hundreds of yards on the other side of this road, including the costs of a step-down transformer, bringing the current from 30,000 to 3,000 volts, for £160. I am now informed that the telephone will cost me a rental of nearly £25 per annum, together with a deposit and all official charges in addition; but the story does not end there. The service on the line can only be obtained between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. on week-days, and 9 a.m. and 10.30 a.m. on Sundays and Bank holidays.

It was proposed to put in this telephone to obtain direct contact with London, Dublin and Cork, and even for occasional Continental service. It seems to me a terrible pity that people who are anxious to develop their business and to live in Ireland, at the same time keeping in touch with their overseas markets and their interests in other countries, should not be able to get any adequate service, because obviously a service restricted to hours makes the telephone of no real value. Again, the cost is one to prevent the economic development of this form of communication for any business purpose. I might mention that, if the telephone were wanted to call in a doctor in the evening suddenly, it would, of course, be useless.

Can anything be done to put this dreadful state of affairs right?—Yours, etc.,

TRINITY COLLEGE NOTES.

"HISTORICAL" REFORMS.

BATHS IN COLLEGE.

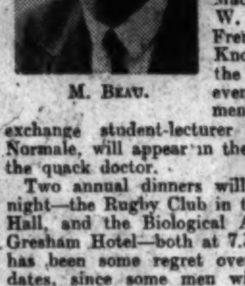
FROM A CORRESPONDENT.

THE peace experienced by the officers of the College Historical Society this session has come to a sudden end. Moved, perhaps, by the boredom of uneventfulness, a group of radicals, self-styled the Constitutional Reform Party, have seized this occasion to demand a number of serious changes in the laws and customs of the Society. On Tuesday night a meeting of the party was held in No. 4, when a platform was unanimously approved. It is proposed to discontinue the annual printing of the Auditor's opening address, and to substitute an abstract of the Society's proceedings, to be published every four or five years. A proposal that has met with widespread approval is the motion to introduce two or three "distinguished strangers," who will speak early in the debates, instead of inviting one to take the chair. Canvassing, at present prohibited by the laws of the Society, is advocated by the Constitutional Reform Party. The reformers hold the field with one victory to nil; through their efforts smoking is now permitted in private business.

The Rev. William Paton, joint secretary of the International Missionary Council, will address a meeting in the Regent House next Tuesday at 8 p.m. The Provost has consented to take the chair, and the six o'clock rule has been waived in order to allow women students to attend. The University missions to Fukien and Chota Nagpur are both urgently in need of men and women for service abroad, and this meeting should be the means of stirring up interest in College. Mr. Paton will speak on "The Christian's Attitute to non-Christians."

On Wednesday afternoon the League of Nations Society held an interesting meeting. Mr. G. A. Duncan, F.T.C.D., spoke on a variety of subjects raised by the paper previously read by the President of the Society. He gave a keen analysis of the confusion and misrepresentation so prevalent to-day owing to the personification of nations by politicians and the Press. A distinguished visitor, Dr. Raju, followed with a discussion of the perils of centralisation, particularly as it will affect India. Dr. Raju, who is on a visit to Dublin, is the former Deputy Director of Public Instruction in the Central Provinces and ex-Professor of Philosophy in the University of Nagpur.

Next Monday night at 8.15 p.m. the Modern Language Society will present, for one performance only, a French and a German play at the Gate Theatre. "Die Frage an Das Schicksal" will be the first play on the programme, and should occupy no more than twenty minutes. The principal roles will be acted by Miss Honoré MacSwiney and Mr. W. Purcell. The French play, "Dr. Knock," will provide the remainder of the evening's entertainment. M. Beau, the exchange student-lecturer from the Ecole Normale, will appear in the principal part of the quack doctor.



M. BEAU.

Two annual dinners will take place to-night—the Rugby Club in the College Dining Hall, and the Biological Association at the Gresham Hotel—both at 7.30 o'clock. There has been some regret over the clashing of dates, since some men wished to attend both of these affairs.

The ravages of depression have invaded the Co-operative Society's Store. Under the present Secretary, Mr. J. W. Wellwood, Sch., the organisation of the shop has been reformed and the office of undergraduate Secretary abolished, Miss Kelly taking over the duties. Moreover, as the shop has been losing money, the Society has felt it necessary to dispense with Paddy Clarke, the manager's assistant. College men who deal at the "Co-op." will regret this measure; for during his eleven years of service Paddy has won the hearts of all by his patience and good humour. It is hoped that some other arrangement will be made to retain so faithful a College servant.

SPORT.

The baths have again come to the fore as a subject of discussion. In this week's issue of T.C.D. an editorial protested against the policy of measuring out the hot water for baths, the closing of the baths during vacations, and sundry other inconveniences. A suggestion that merits attention is printed in the provocative column, Collegiana. "Why are there no hot showers in the Pavilion?" it asks. If the football teams that monopolise the baths under the present system could be relegated to their proper place in the Pavilion it would help to reduce the crowds in the baths. It might also help to preserve the New Square from the unsightly tracks of athletes coming and going from the baths to College Park.

The combined dance of the Women's and Men's Hockey Clubs will be held next Thursday night at the Metropole. As this dance will be one of the last social events of Hilary Term, it should be well supported. The first men's XI. has played excellent hockey this season. This afternoon Pembroke Wanderers will be met in the semi-final of the Mills Cup, and next Saturday the all-important match with Naas will be played for the Leinster Cup. Two Trinity players, Messrs. McVeagh and Lee, were instrumental in the Irish victory over Wales last Saturday at Belfast.

OCCULT MELODRAMA.

"OBSESSION IN INDIA."

"Obsession in India," a first play by a new author, which had its first production at the Gate Theatre last night, might be described as melodrama of the popular kind, with a flavouring of Hindu mysticism—Edgar Wallace, perhaps, with garnishings by Mahatma Gandhi. It is an interesting first effort, holding the attention of the audience for a longer period than was desirable, which suggests that Mr. R. E. Goddard has a future in the theatre. "Obsession in India" is likely to be successful in the commercial theatre if the author remembers that two hours is quite long enough for his play.

There is always trouble in plays about the occult, in that they have to begin and end on a material plane. For that reason, perhaps, they invariably begin in murmurings and end in murder. When Colonel O'Keefe and Bharat Singh, the inseparables, take possession of the colonel's mind as the reincarnation of Schwartz and Ranke, who had fought for one Loretta, the train is laid which inevitably ends in "blood in the fifth act." In this case the author manages to keep his occultism fully in tune with his triangular melodrama, and, in consequence, to make his audience and his cast thank him for a good job well done.

Having seen Michael MacLiammoir get under the skins of many nationalities, it was fascinating to watch him as a Hindu-German wriggling through two worlds in sensuous villainy. Mr. Hilton Edwards played his "White Cargo" colonel in excellent style, and Mr. Lionel Dymoke both looked and worked like one fresh from the old Royal Irish Constabulary course. Miss Meriel Moore had a few delightful moments, and Miss Betty Chancellor played the girlish bride perfectly. "Obsession in India" will be played every evening next week, commencing on Tuesday.

Miss Grace Kathleen Skelton, of Woolstone road, Forest Hill, London, was awarded £2,000 damages in the King's Bench Division, London, yesterday, in a breach of promise action against Maurice Parkinson, of Gaynesford road, Forest Hill.

IRELAND IN LONDON.

THROUGH THE EYES OF AN EXILE.

FROM A CORRESPONDENT.

ONE of the most attractive stalls at the British Industries Fair, now being held simultaneously in London and Birmingham, is that of the Belleek Company of Fermanagh. It is some distance away from most of the china or pottery exhibits, and is so different that it is a relief from the bewildering variety of the wares that they show. For some reason or other, however, the Belleek designs themselves have not altered much in many years. It may be that the material of which the vases, cups and the like are made lends itself best to mottled surfaces and the somewhat rococo manner of the basket designs and "classical" panels. The texture of the ware is charming and most distinctive, and a tea-set in the ridged cream ware, with no colour at all in it, was much admired, and many replicas ordered in the first day or two.

A BEST-SELLER.

Mr. Stephen Gwynn's "Horace Walpole," published a week or two ago, is likely to be another best-seller. He said himself that his biography of R. N. Scott, of the Antarctic expeditions, was his first best-seller. It appeared at about the same time as his life of Sir Walter Scott. Speaking of whom, Dame Una Pope Hennessy, another of the Irish in London, has just published a sort of bouquet of quotations from the "Life" of Lockhart, which is too long for modern taste, though it is a most sound and competent study of the life of the Scottish novelist. Dame Una may prove to have been just in time to catch the last of to-day's taste for short biographies; because the lenghty tome is coming back into fashion in such works as well as in fiction. Dame Una some years ago published an erudite appreciation of Chinese jade carvings. She was Miss Una Blake, and married Colonel Pope-Hennessy, who, during the War and just after it, held an important position at the War Office in London. He is a son of that Pope-Hennessy who fought a famous bye-election in the anti-Parnellite cause some time after the "split," and a connection of the late Mrs. Stopford Green. They live nearly opposite to the London Zoological Gardens, a pleasant place, with Regent's Park and Primrose Hill Park at its very door. Quite near to them, and also facing the Park, lives Miss Helen Waddell, sister of Mr. Rutherford Mayne, the Ulster playwright, whose latest comedy is to be produced in London for the first time next week. Miss Waddell is more famous as a scholarly author than her brother is as a dramatist. Somebody wrote of her lately that she touched nothing which she did not adorn.

"TIM" HEALY.

This month, also, Sir Dunbar Barton is to lecture the Irish Literary Society here on the life and career of the late Timothy Healy, K.C. Sir Dunbar Barton, for many years a High Court judge of the Irish Bench, is a great contrast to the man on whom he will lecture. He was known for the great tolerance of his views and for the kindliness of his references to all his colleagues. Not his best friend could contend that Mr. Timothy Healy had a kindly tongue, though it is said that his act was often kinder than his word.

Great interest is displayed in the inauguration of the new organ at Westminster Cathedral this week. It has been more than ten years under construction, and its tone is said to be very fine. The Rev. Sir John O'Connell is a curate of the Diocese of Westminster, attached to the Roman Catholic Church in Warwick street. Last year he was delivering a series of Lenten sermons in the evening. Another Irish lawyer, now living in London, thought he would like to hear the ex-solicitor preaching. To his dismay, he found that the semon lasted about an hour—it was the first of the series. It was a good sermon, but, as he explained, his view was that no sermon should last more than half-an-hour. Besides he admired Sir John's perorations more than any other part of his discourses. So to the next sermon he turned up half-an-hour late. He found the congregation just leaving the church—Sir John had realised his error himself.

FATHER OF FREE SPEECH.

Last week Mr. Isaac Foot, M.P., took the first steps towards an interesting memorial in the House of Commons. It is to commemorate the three hundredth anniversary of the death of Sir John Eliot, who is described as the Father of Free Speech. Mr. Foot wants the memorial—a bas-relief panel is suggested—to be unveiled on the 27th November next, on which day, in 1632, Sir John Eliot died in the Tower of London. He had been imprisoned with other members of Parliament for making speeches against the policy of King Charles I. Indeed, some Puritan members had held the Speaker in the chair while Sir John addressed the House on a matter which the Speaker had ruled out of order. This incident it is proposed to illustrate in the panel.

CHARLES II.

Charles I. was a wicked king reckoned, but he was not as bad as Charles II., says an old rhyme. It is remarkable, nevertheless, to trace the growth of art and culture under the second Charles. In his lazy way, he was a keen amateur of art and learning. The Royal Academy was established in his reign and under his patronage. He and his mistresses and his long-suffering queen were painted by the great artists whom he attracted to the Court. Indeed, he brought back from his wanderings on the Continent not only a deep cynicism, but a great respect for research, as far as it was known in those early days, and a highly cultivated taste. Some exquisite tapestries that he bought are to be seen in London now, and at the Walnut Exhibition in Sir Philip Sassoon's house there are displayed many other interesting objects of his personal life, as well as that I.O.U. which leapt into the newspapers recently. Many of the walnut loveliest pieces of furniture were made in the reign of the good and dull Queen Anne, but she, poor dear, was not distinguished for her taste. Charles II. had the swarthy skin of a Moor, and had much Moorish blood from his maternal side. He had also by heredity much Stuart charm, Bourbon obstinacy, and a great deal of the guile of the Medicis. His brother, James, was more honest, more industrious and far more irritating and unpopular.

MISS RUTH DRAPER.

In her third programme at the Gaiety Theatre last night Miss Ruth Draper presented yet another series of character studies almost entirely different from those she had performed earlier in the week, but the large audience was not less entertained by the cameos which this gifted actress painted for them.

Again one marvelled at the wealth of reserves Miss Draper possesses, and how easily and simply, with natural touch, she makes her characters live. Last night, for example, she translated her hearers into the shop of a French dressmaker and revealed with lightning touch all the mysteries of shopping and fitting. There followed an emotional little study of the Dalmatian peasant in the hall of a New York hospital seeking an injured husband.

The study of the Scottish immigrant girl at Ellis Island was a perfect study.

Three breakfast table studies were clever pieces of work, and then Miss Draper again moved the audience with her masterly tale of incidents in a church in Florence, with its concluding silent drama.

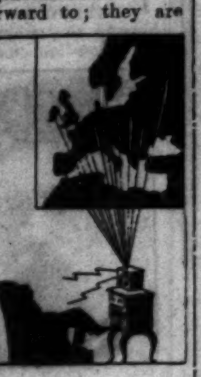
ATTRACTIONS FOR THE WEEK-END.



THE week-end programmes are something to look forward to; they are always bright. This week-end there is Vaudeville on the National wavelength, with Eddie Collis, the English crooner, topping the bill, and many equally famous entertainers following him. The Vaudeville is at 9.40. Earlier in the evening, from the same station, there will be a relay from the London Coliseum production of Erik Charell's "White Horse Inn," Scenes 1 and 2, from Act I. The play has earned a well-deserved fame, but for those not familiar with the detail it may be said that the first scene is laid outside the White Horse Inn, which belongs to Josepha (Lea Seidl). Her head waiter, Leopold (Clifford Mollison), is in love with her, but she is more interested in an English visitor, Valentine Sutton (Bernard Clifton), who is given the best room in the inn. The relay opens with the arrival of his business rival, Ginkle (Jack Barty), and his daughter. Scene 2 is laid outside the cowshed.

Fate of Mayo Recluses.

Local Theories.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
CLAREMORRIS, Friday.

IN regard to the deaths of the two aged sisters, Ellen and Mary Mulkeen, who were found battered and trampled to death in their lonely little cottage at Caldragh, Knock, County Mayo, the opinion is rife locally that the old pair were murdered by someone in search of their money. The police view is that one sister murdered the other, and then died herself as a result of exposure and starvation.

Detectives and Civic Guards still are actively pursuing investigation.

Mrs. Ellen Murphy, a cousin of the dead sisters, told me to-day that she is convinced that both women were murdered. She asserts that both of them were very wealthy, and were known to have a substantial amount of loose gold and notes in the house. The elder sister, Ellen Mulkeen, was in the habit of carrying a couple of hundred pounds in a purse tied around her neck with a string. There was no trace of such a purse when the police found the bodies. A significant feature is the fact that the clothes were torn from the neck of Ellen Mulkeen, and her mutilated hand was upraised, as if in an endeavour to safeguard her neck from an assailant.

After an exhaustive search of the house the police failed to discover any money. A bank deposit receipt for £100 was, however, found in an old mattress.

It is pointed out locally that during the war years the two deceased women kept the best cattle in that part of the country, and, in addition, must have had accumulated a good sum of money from poultry breeding, in which they engaged extensively.

The bodies were to-day interred in Knock Cemetery in the same grave. They are survived by two other sisters, Norah and Delia Mulkeen.

General O'Duffy, Chief Commissioner of the Civic Guards, has been in constant telephonic communication with Superintendent Kelly, Claremorris, who is in charge of the investigations. Chief Superintendent O'Dwyer, from Castlebar, also visited Caldragh to-day.

Archbishop Downey.—Councillor J. J. McNamara, at the meeting of the Limerick Corporation, gave notice that he would propose that the Freedom of the City be conferred on the Most Rev. Dr. Downey, Archbishop of Liverpool, on the occasion of his forthcoming visit to the city on April 21 in recognition of his distinguished services in the cause of religion. The Mayor felt sure that the Council would unanimously support the resolution. Alderman O'Flynn and other members joined in the desire to offer Limerick's felicitations to Dr. Downey.

IRISH AWARDS IN R.A.C. RALLY.

TESTING EFFICIENCY AFTER LONG RUN.

BAD LUCK INCIDENTS IN TORQUAY DASH.

FROM OUR SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE.
TORQUAY, Friday.

OFFICIAL figures issued to-day by the Royal Automobile Club show that of the 313 cars to finish the 1,000 miles course to the monster rally here, 28 lost marks for being late, for slight mechanical failures on examination of the car, and for the loss of fittings and equipment en route.

The essence of bad luck seems to have dogged some of the drivers, the most luckless being Miss D. Champney, of Leamington, who, having covered 930 miles by continuous driving in a Riley, apparently fell asleep while at the steering-wheel and within ten miles of the finish her car leapt from the road and crashed into a telegraph pole, cutting it in two. She and her two women passengers were injured, but managed to complete the course.

The first car to pass the finishing-line was a two-seater Riley, driven by Mr. F. A. Denny, followed closely by Mr. Middleton Joy's Armstrong-Siddeley.

IRISH TEAM'S SUCCESS.

The following awards have been gained by Irish entrants:—

R.A.C. special plaque for completing the course in scheduled time and without loss of marks on examination at the finish.

Team entries—W. M. E. Montgomery (Austin), W. Sullivan (M.G. Midget), A. H. Wilkinson (Riley), Mrs. K. R. Dunville (Isotta Fraschini).

Individual winners include T. Thistlethwaite (Rolls-Royce), H. Tyrrell-Smith (Talbot), Kathleen Countess of Drogheda (S.S.I.).

W. Noble, of Belfast, was late at the finishing point, and forfeited fourteen marks thereby.

Many cars, it appears, lost marks for arriving too soon, it being necessary for each car to arrive at the finishing point with a margin of either only five minutes to spare or ten minutes late on schedule, the schedule being forty hours. One competitor forfeited as much as one hundred marks for passing the winning post an hour too soon.

MECHANICAL TESTS.

The second stage of the rally—the series of mechanical tests of each car as it is taken straight from the R.A.C. control garage, and in exactly the same conditions as it arrived yesterday—was concluded to-day. The results, however, will not be available until to-morrow afternoon.

Use of the Word "Catholic."

Discussion at Waterford Corporation.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
WATERFORD, Friday.

The inclusion of the word "Catholic" in the resolution from the League of the Kingship of Christ gave rise to a discussion at the meeting of the Waterford Corporation last night. The resolution stated that it was clear that Irish Catholic culture was in peril from the influence of the cinema, which, under the prevailing system of production and distribution, was largely degrading in tendency, and stating that further measures were required to cope with the evil.

Councillor Jacob said that he did not move an amendment, but he wished to refer to the phrase in regard to "Irish Catholic culture" being imperilled. Reading the resolution one would think that the non-Catholic portion of the community was without culture.

Councillor W. A. Dobbyn said that he thought the omission of the word "Catholic" would be in favour of the Catholics. It would be remarkable if Irish Roman Catholics were the only people to be injured by these productions.

Alderman O'Donovan said that, if Councillor Dobbyn or other members were in England or in the North of Ireland, there would be something to be said for his objection to the word "Catholic," but here in the South they were in a majority.

The resolution was adopted as submitted.

St. Patrick's Day.—The Limerick Gaelic League is making arrangements for the holding of a demonstration on St. Patrick's Day in the city. There will be a grand procession, in which the various public bodies will take part. The Limerick Development Association is arranging for a display of Irish manufactures.

£1 Note in Shoe.—When charged at Ennistymon District Court with the larceny of a £1 note, the property of Mr. James Murphy, publican, Ennistymon, Kathleen Reynolds, a domestic servant, pleaded guilty. Superintendent Keegan, who prosecuted, said that he believed that the girl did not realise what she had done. She had treated the whole matter as a joke. When interviewed by the sergeant she took off her shoe and handed over the £1 note. District Justice Gleeson said that he was sure there were a number of these cases occurring, but not one in ten ever came before the Court. He did not like to send the girl to prison, but if girls got away with offences like this there would be nothing to deter them from doing the same again. The case was adjourned to next Court for the production of evidence as to the character of the accused girl.

IRISH NEWS IN BRIEF.

Arson Charge.—At Wexford Circuit Court Judge Devitt sentenced Martin Gill, Ferrycarrig, to four months' imprisonment, to be suspended on entering into bail of £100 to be of good behaviour for three years, on the charge of burning a dwellinghouse on his outfarm at Newcastle.

• • • • •

Work on New Cinema Held Up.—Work on the new cinema in Patrick street, Cork, is likely to be interfered with for some time owing to a dispute between one of the contractors and the Cork branch of the Operative Plasterers', Slaters' and Tilers' Society. About fourteen men are affected.

• • • • •

"Hold-Up" Sequel.—James Connell and William Holden, Callan; Patrick Doheny, Maxtown, and Michael Walsh, Kyletera, were remanded at a special Court, which was held at Callan (Co. Kilkenny), charged with "holding-up" and robbing Joseph Lamoert, Mallardstown, a returned American, on the public road, between Callan and Goatsbridge.

• • • • •

Dance Licence Withdrawn.—District Justice Farrell, at Midleton (Co. Cork) Court yesterday, withdrew the temporary licence for a dance hall at Garranes, Carrigtwohill, held by Patrick Mulcahy, for having failed to carry out structural alterations at the request of the Cork Board of Health. Describing the premises, Superintendent O'Driscoll said that it was formerly a dwelling-house, dangerous and unsuitable for dancing.

• • • • •

Would Not Take the Oath.—At Wexford District Court, Acting-Justice McCann imposed a suspended sentence of one month on John Donnelly, Red Bog, Trinity, Taghmon, who was charged with breaking into the house of Catherine Brennan, Kingsford, and stealing a bottle of wine, rice, currants, bread and meal, and with damaging a door, a lock and a trunk. Sergeant Hayden stated that he believed there were others with the defendant when the house was broken into, but the accused man would not say who they were. The accused man, who said that he did not wish to be sworn, stated he broke into the house, but took nothing. Superintendent O'Halloran, Civic Guard, said he believed the accused man knew the other men, but would not tell their names. He was very careful, and evidently had been prompted not to take an oath. The defendant was directed to enter into bail.

Charge Against Soldiers.—Private Edward Quinn and Private Michael Downey were arrested yesterday by the Athlone Civic Guards, and before a Special Court were charged with the larceny of a medical instrument, valued at £30, from the local military hospital. They were remanded in custody to Athlone Court to be held next Thursday.

Badminton Blamed.—Grave concern was expressed by the members of the Fermanagh Sub-Committee for Technical Instruction when reports were made yesterday of the bad attendance at the technical classes. It was pointed out by the Secretary that the defaulters were not only boys, but girls, and he laid the blame for the bad attendance at the door of badminton, which was a strong counter-attraction. There was a large number of clubs in Enniskillen.

• • • • •

Fusion of County Cork Mills.—At a meeting of the Cork Workers' Council concern was expressed in regard to the position of the local flour-milling firms, which, it is stated, are shortly to be amalgamated and placed under the control of Messrs. Ranks, an English firm. Mr. R. Anthony, T.D., said that he looked on flour-milling as a key industry, and it would be disastrous if it passed into alien hands. It was agreed to communicate with the Secretary of the Irish Labour Party on the subject.

AUCTION SALES.

MESSRS. BATTERSBY AND CO.

In our auction columns to-day Messrs. Battersby and Co. announce a long and varied list of forthcoming sales, commencing with a sale of high class furniture and effects at "St. Michaels," Rock road, Booterstown, on Tuesday next, at 12 o'clock. At their property sale on Thursday next they will offer the well-known fully-licensed premises, "Guinness's," Rock road, Booterstown, with family grocery business attached. On the same day will be offered "Oscot," Upper Castle avenue, Clontarf, a detached brick-built bungalow, with possession. At 5 Mount Temple terrace, Dartry road, on the 15th inst., Messrs. Battersby and Co. will sell the furniture and effects. On the 21st inst. they will offer "The Cabin Café," 30 Wicklow street, extensive and well-situated business premises, and on the following day will sell the entire equipment, furniture and fittings of the premises. On the 7th April they will offer "Mount Merrion," Stillorgan road, a residence with 30 acres; "Fortwilliam," Mount Merrion avenue, and valuable building sites on Stillorgan road and Mount Merrion avenue. Full details are set out in our advertising columns.

MESSRS. JACKSON STOPS AND JOYCE.

Three desirable residential properties in the Irish Free State will be offered for sale by Messrs. Jackson Stops and Joyce, at Jury's Hotel, Dublin, on the 11th March. One is Kilbrack, Doneraile, Co. Cork, the property of Mr. J. S. Shepherd, M.F.H., which is offered with vacant possession. Situated within 29 miles from Cork City, Kilbrack House is located in the centre of the Duhallow country. The mansion house and lands of Kilbrack, containing about 131 acres, statute measure, are held for the residue of a term of 965 years granted by lease dated 1st May, 1788, subject to the annual adjusted rent of £95 5/8. For those interested in horse-breeding or in mixed farming the property is ideal, being well provided with boxes for brood mares and yearlings.

Fortwilliam, on the Blackwater, three miles from Lismore, will be submitted for sale with vacant possession, by direction of Major J. Gumbleton Currie. The property extends to about 108 acres, with a river frontage of one-quarter mile, a comfortable residence of moderate size, gate lodge and five other cottages. The property is completely freehold, and is situated in a part of the country where there is excellent hunting, fishing and shooting.

At the edge of the Curragh, half-a-mile from Newbridge, is Ballymany, a compact brick-built modern non-basement house, on 2¾ acres of nicely laid out gardens with tennis court, young fruit trees and glass-house. The property is absolutely freehold.

Catalogues can be obtained from Messrs. Jackson Stops and Joyce, 33 Kildare street, Dublin.

ALBERT MacARTHUR.

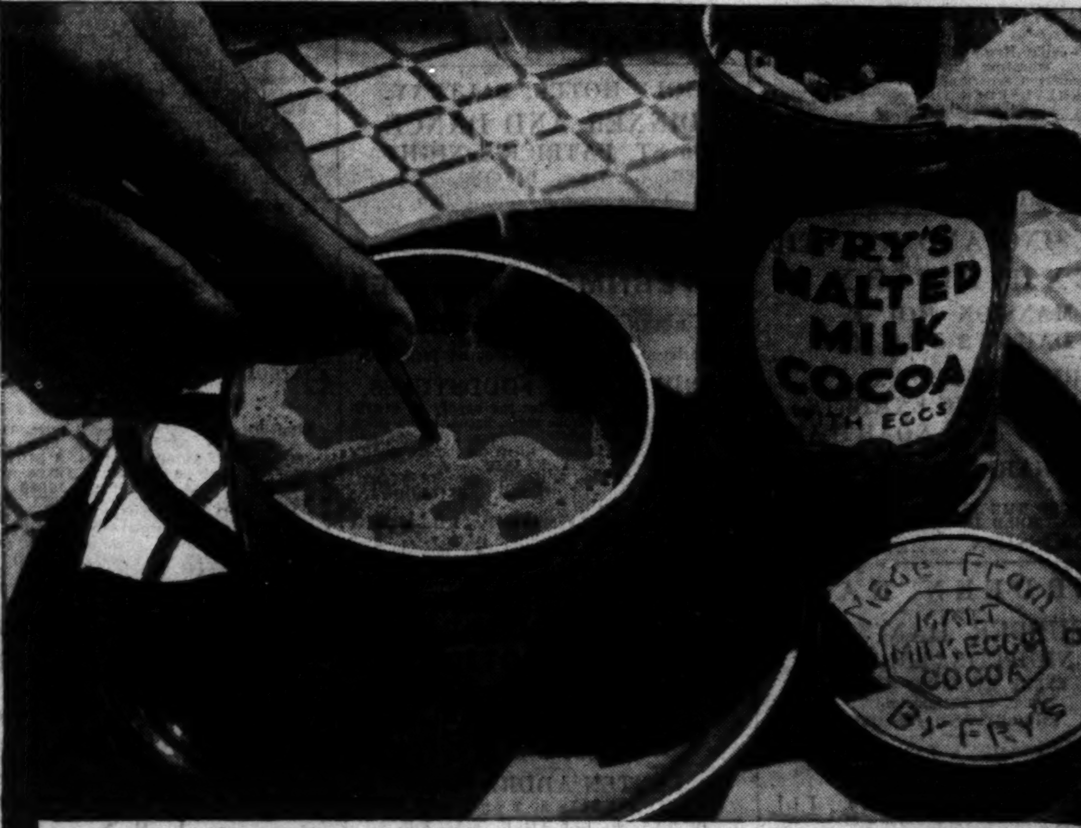
Albert MacArthur, "The Housefinder," will sell at MacArthur House, D'Olier street, Dublin, on Tuesday, 15th March, Merville, 55 Fitzroy avenue, Drumcondra, re Nowlan, deceased; 30 Longwood avenue, South Circular road; 23 Victoria street, South Circular road, £10 ground rent; also site, 85 Francis street; the business premises, 8 Quinsboro' road, Bray. On Tuesday, 14th, "The Housefinder" will sell on the premises, 250 Clontarf road, the household furniture and effects, commencing at 12 o'clock sharp. At a later date the commodious factory and concerns (in voluntary liquidation), Traun Rubber Co., Ltd., 57 Rathmines road, will come under the hammer. Full particulars appear in the advertising columns to-day.

MacARTHUR AND CO., LTD.

MacArthur and Co., Ltd., 26 Westmoreland street, will sell the modern two-storeyed house, 2 Everton avenue, North Circular road, by public auction on the premises, Wednesday, 16th March, at 2 o'clock (by instructions of the mortgagees). Full particulars appear in the advertising columns.

CORRIGAN AND CO.

Messrs. Corrigan and Co. will sell by auction next Wednesday the suburban semi-detached residence, No. 46 St. Alban's Park, Sydney Parade, possessing every modern convenience and a garage, with the advantage of remission of rates. On same day will be sold 1 to 7 Dunville terrace and Dunville Cottage, adjoining Charlemont Bridge, producing £3 16/- a week—an attractive lot to investors. The sale takes place at 1.30 at 4 Grafton street.



The most nourishing food you can drink!

4 FOODS IN 1

All that scientists know of the blending and balancing of pure natural foods is in this delicious tonic beverage. The four foods used are in exactly the right proportion to ensure ease of digestion, and each of them is the best of its kind—if there were better, Fry's would use them.

Such a food-drink need not be expensive. Possessing the special advantages of new machinery and unique opportunities in buying, Fry's are able to present a product at a price that is a triumph for capital and labour. Do not drink a haphazard mixture of powdered malt, milk powder, dried eggs and cocoa.

Drink the four foods in one—Fry's Malted Milk Cocoa with Eggs.

PURE LIQUID MALT EXTRACT from brown sun-ripened barley—the finest, most health-giving malt that money can buy.

SELECTED EGGS. Every day the golden yolks of thousands of farmhouse eggs become one of the "Four foods in one."

FRY'S WORLD-FAMOUS COCOA. The standard by which all Cocoa is judged—there is no purer, more strengthening Cocoa in the world.

MILK, NATURE'S ESSENTIAL FOOD—pure MILK with all its virtues—the finest food base obtainable.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND

Mr. de Valera is not likely to disclose the personnel of his new Ministry until after the opening of the new Dail on Wednesday next.—(Page 9.)

At the next meeting of the Dublin Corporation the Lane Bequest Claim Committee will submit a report stating that the Committee is of opinion that the time now has come to make a formal demand for the return of the pictures.—(Page 6.)

Two Fianna Fail candidates and one Cumann na nGaedheal candidate were elected on the first count in Leitrim-Sligo.—(Pge 9.)

Sir Walter Nugent, Bart., Chairman, presided at the annual meeting of the Great Southern Railways Company in Dublin yesterday.—(Page 10.)

GREAT BRITAIN.

The House of Commons yesterday gave a second reading to the Veterinary Surgeons (Irish Free State Agreement) Bill.—(Page 14.)

Several Irish entrants were successful in gaining awards in the Royal Automobile Club's rally at Torquay.—(Page 7.)

ABROAD.

Japan claims the right to demand an indemnity from China. The League Assembly is adopting a stronger line in the dispute than that which was adopted by the Council of the League.—(Page 9.)

SPORTING.

At Hurst Park yesterday Sterling Maiden won the Burlington Handicap Hurdle Race.—(Page 12.)

At Catterick Bridge Stonebow won the Masham Handicap Steeplechase.—(Page 12.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were not so active. British Funds, however, continued to rise.—(Page 14.)

The Treasury bill rate fell to 2⅜ per cent. Loan and bill rates were easy.—(Page 14.)

Parties and Programmes.

The result of the Sligo-Leitrim election will not affect the state of parties in the new Dáil, which will be opened next Wednesday. Mr. de Valera is assured of a Government, but it will exist by favour of the Labour Party, and that party's demands will be exigent. In their recent speeches the Labour leaders have made no effort to temper the wind to the shorn lamb. Mr. Norton says bluntly that so long as Fianna Fáil pursues social and economic reforms Labour will support it; but, if it puts the Oath and other political issues in the forefront of its programme, the Labour vote will dismiss it from office. Can Mr. de Valera accept this ultimatum? It is true that Fianna Fáil's social programme is vast and bountiful, but for him the political issue is paramount, and the Oath is the keystone of that issue. "This Oath," he said in his broadcast to America, "will now be removed"; and we may assume that Mr. de Valera will propose its removal without delay—perhaps, in the first week of the new Parliament. Beyond question, the raising of this issue at the opening of the new session would be fatal to Labour's plans. The Labour leaders are in close touch with British politics. They know that the Oath is an issue which, like a highly charged electric wire, cannot be dropped after it has been grasped. It must involve Mr. de Valera's Government instantly in a conflict that will drive into the background all the claims on which Labour's heart is set.

Mr. de Valera invites at once our respect and our wonder. His patriotism is beyond dispute; his political manners are admirable; his good-will towards all classes of his fellow-countrymen and, as we think, towards the British nation is abundant and sincere. He acts in the light of profound convictions, and almost disarms us with the simplicity of his refusal to recognise any of the facts which clash with those convictions. As Mr. Wemmick said, "Here's a church; let's get married," so Mr. de Valera will say calmly to the Dáil, "Here's an oath; let's abolish it." He does not realise, and, apparently, cannot realise, that in raising this issue he will challenge the British Empire. The Oath is an essential part of the Anglo-Irish Treaty. By that Treaty the Free State is a member of the British Empire; and, since the British Empire is a hereditary monarchy, any part of it that refuses to acknowledge the King ceases to be a part of the Empire. On that point there can be no compromise, and the fact is clear from the statement which the Secretary for Dominion Affairs made this week in the House of Commons. "The relations between this country and the Irish Free State," said Mr. Thomas, "rest upon the Treaty of 1921." Mr. de Valera proposes that his Government shall be represented at Ottawa; but, if the Oath goes, the Free State will have no status at Ottawa. In effect, his mind works so remotely from practical affairs that he seeks at once to repudiate and to retain the Anglo-Irish Treaty.

The events of the next few days are incalculable. For the moment we must be content to say that the raising of the Treaty issue in the first session of the new Dáil would be doubly deplorable. It would provoke an imperial quarrel, and it would kill the prospect of fruitful legislation in home affairs. That prospect, apart from the issue of the Oath, is excellent. The Labour Party will be the keeper of the Government's economic conscience, and the Opposition, led by Mr. Cosgrave, will be ready to further all sound schemes of social progress. There is a chance now, with the co-operation of all parties, to put housing schemes on a national basis, to advance the farmer's interests in the British market, and to attack the problem of unemployment in a bold and large fashion. Particularly, the country's welfare demands that the coming session shall be, in substantial measure, a railway session. For the Labour Party there is no more urgent problem than the plight of the Free State railways; for it involves the livelihood of fifteen thousand workers. As the chairman's speech showed at yesterday's meeting of the Great Southern Railways, the company is making a brave fight against adversity. It has organised and multiplied its road services; but the railways themselves are crippled by restrictions which the latest Railway Act failed to remove. The company prays for a free hand to extinguish unprofitable services and to vary its rates as the demands of a fierce competition may require. Without such reforms it cannot hope to escape financial ruin. The Labour Party must decide next week whether it will join Mr. de Valera in the pursuit of an ignis fatuus, or will take its stand upon the solid ground of the nation's essential needs.

Northern Finance.

It is highly necessary that the Government of Northern Ireland shall take early measures to adjust its financial relations with the British Exchequer. The existing condition of affairs is anomalous and, by the common consent of the province, inequitable. At present Northern Ireland is permitted to collect certain revenue; from it she pays the cost of her own services, and hands over the balance, if there is a balance, as her imperial contribution to the British Treasury. A prime difficulty is that on no occasion can Northern Ireland, however efficiently her finances may be managed, begin the year with a balance. Of late, moreover, lean years have fallen upon Northern Irish industry, and the Government's revenue from taxation has suffered a notable decrease. Last year, after the cost of local services had been met, there was no balance wherewith to pay an imperial contribution. It is clear that this state of things cannot endure. If trade does not show an immediate and intense revival, there is every likelihood that the North will lack a surplus again; and the Road Fund cannot be raided indefinitely. The coming year, in fact, is likely to impose additional burdens on her. She will obtain no revenue from the new tariff duties; for comparatively few foreign vessels unload directly upon the quays of Belfast. On the other hand, if Mr. Neville Chamberlain carries out his veiled promise to reduce the income tax—and, perhaps, the beer and spirit duties—Northern Ireland will be faced with a serious fall in revenue, and the possibility of a Budget surplus will be more remote than ever. So far as this intensifying of the problem is concerned, it is suggested that the North shall be credited with a portion of the tariff revenue on a per capita basis. This course would alleviate the new burden, but it would leave the greater difficulty still unsolved. Many people urge that the existing system ought to be continued—that Northern Ireland shall pay any surplus which she may have as an imperial contribution, but that, if her accounts show a deficit instead of a surplus, it ought to be made good by the British Exchequer, which imposes virtually the whole of the province's taxation. Probably this scheme, with others, will be discussed during the new session of the Northern Parliament, which will open next Tuesday. The Government has made a large and unpopular concession to the British Treasury in the matter of revaluation. Some return is demanded from a Britain that is beginning to prosper.

Housing in the Free State.

The Free State Department of Local Government and Public Health has sent a circular to all local authorities in the twenty-six counties, requesting them to supply particulars of their housing schemes, and informing them officially of the provisions of the Housing (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act of 1931. This measure marks an important stage in the solution of the Free State housing problem. It furnishes local authorities with fresh powers to clear slum areas, and to improve such areas as are capable of betterment without wholesale demolition. Since 1922 nearly 25,000 new houses have been built in the twenty-six counties, under various schemes assisted and authorised by the Government. State grants have exceeded £2,500,000, while a like sum has been provided by local authorities. The cost of private building during the period has been estimated at some £6,000,000, and, consequently, the total sum spent on housing is in the neighbourhood of £11,000,000. Yet much remains to be done. The Dublin Corporation has just borrowed £500,000 from the banks, in order to continue its five years' housing scheme. Other local authorities are making preparations for renewed activities, and the next few years ought to see large improvements. It is essential, however, that there shall be some kind of uniformity in building schemes. Serious mistakes have been made during recent years through the lack of proper town-planning authority. Some of the suburbs of Dublin show the unmistakable stamp of the jerry-builder, and architectural atrocities have been committed which never ought to have been possible. There has been talk of a Ministry for Fine Arts under the new dispensation. Such a luxury, doubtless, is out of the question; but, at least, some effort can be made to control the work of house-building.

British Films.

Two interesting facts emerge from the annual report of the British Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association. In the first place, British films are gaining an increasingly firm hold upon the world of entertainment. During 1931 there was a severe shortage of films in the United States, which would have been reproduced in these islands if the supply of British productions had not been sufficient to repair the lack. The total number of British films shown was 145—nearly one-fourth of the total supply on the market. Most of them, according to the exhibitors, were excellent. We may modify this judgment to read "excellent by comparison with the bulk of American products"; for British films still have a long way to go in the matter of quality. Nevertheless, it is pleasant to know that the proportion of successful British films surpassed the proportion from any other country during 1931. In the second place, attention is called to a steady decline in the patronage of the picture-house. This tendency began in 1930, and became more and more strongly marked during last year. It seems to be due less to any change of public taste than to the increased cost of admission to picture-houses and to the general spirit of economy in England. The real "slump" began during last November, but exhibitors predict that the present year will be the worst that they will have known. One certain effect of this depression, in their view, will be the lowering of film rental fees. Their Irish brothers may take heart from that prognostication.

COUNCIL SEEKS POWER TO WIDEN STREETS.

Applications by the Dublin City Council for compulsory powers to acquire land for street widening at Grattan Crescent, Inchicore, and Little Green street, Dublin, were heard by Mr. Nioclas O Duibhir, chief engineering inspector to the Local Government Department, at the City Hall yesterday.

The cost of the Inchicore scheme is estimated at £17,200, of which the Corporation hopes to obtain fifty per cent. as a grant from the Department, and that of the Little Green street scheme £4,530.

Mr. I. J. Rice, solicitor, appeared for the Corporation.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

The Duke of York has returned to London after his three days' tour of the industrial centres in Lancashire.

On Saturday, March 19th, the Princess Royal will visit Leeds, and will formally open Brotherton House, which in future will be the headquarters of the Yorkshire Toc H.

The Infanta Beatrice and the Infanta Marie Cristina of Spain were the guests of the British Ambassador and Lady Tyrrell at a luncheon party at the British Embassy in Paris.

The Grand Duchess Maria of Russia has arrived in London from the United States. She has come to England to attend the marriage of her son, Prince Lennart of Sweden, who went to Southampton to meet her. The Grand Duke Dmitri welcomed her at Waterloo Station.

Lady Patricia Ramsay, who has been paying some visits in Scotland, has returned to Clarence House, St. James's. Other arrivals in London include Lord Newton and the Hon. Hilda Legh, Lord and Lady Phillimore, Lord and Lady Scone, Lady James Douglas and Lady Arthur Grosvenor.

The Earl and Countess of Inchcape and Lady Janet Bailey left London yesterday in the ss. Ranpura for Marseilles. Sir James and Lady Connolly are travelling in the same steamer to Tangier and Algiers. Sir Henry and Lady Kimber left Southampton yesterday for South Africa.

Lord and Lady Templemore will remain in London till the end of this month, when they will leave for Hampshire. Lady Kilmaine and the Hon. Alicia Browne will not return to Woodlands, Sevenoaks, for another three weeks. Colonel and the Hon. Mrs. Lumb are expected to return from Madeira next week.

The Tudor Rose League is gaining much support. Amongst the latest members are the Princess Royal and the Earl of Harewood. The members wear an enamel Tudor rose, which notifies that, when shopping, they wish to be shown British goods first.

Mr. MacFetridge has left Dublin for some weeks.

LONDON LETTER.

ECONOMY AND TAXATION.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

If the revenue returns adhere to their present satisfactory showing during the next three weeks, the Chancellor of the Exchequer probably will have a surplus considerably exceeding the one and a-half millions estimated by Viscount Snowden. I pointed out some months ago that a satisfactory surplus was not at all unlikely, since Lord Snowden's estimates appeared to be on the conservative side in several respects. It is impossible, however, that the Chancellor of the Exchequer can make all the remissions in taxation suggested. To take a shilling off the income tax would cost nearly sixty millions a year, and a penny decrease in the beer duty would cost another ten millions. These figures alone show the impossibility of a cancellation of all the various economy "cuts" in insurance, service pay and pensions. To carry out all the suggested remissions the Chancellor would need a surplus of something approaching one hundred millions. It is far more reasonable to expect a modest reduction in income tax, with the possibility of changes in other directions.

The Tariff Committee.

It had been expected that the appointment of Sir George May and his two colleagues who are to form the Tariff Advisory Committee, would be followed by two others; but it is said that further appointments will not be made until the members of the present Committee feel that it is advisable. The first work with which the Committee must deal is the question of imports already paying a 50 per cent. duty under the Abnormal Importations Act; for this measure will expire in May. Any revision of duties imposed under the Horticultural Products Act is not so urgent, as that Act was passed in December last for a year. The Committee, it is understood, will not consider for at least six months any change in the free list, but it will have many other important matters to consider.

St. Patrick's Day in London.

St. Patrick's Day will be marked in London by the usual celebrations, and it is expected that there will be at least three big gatherings in the evening. The Irish Club banquet will be at the Dorchester House, and that of the National University of Ireland Club at Grosvenor House. The Union of Four Provinces will probably hold its banquet at the Savoy Hotel. The Benevolent Society of St. Patrick will hold its annual meeting and luncheon at the Hotel Metropole.

Liquor in the North.

Mr. Lockie, the Liberal member for Walsall, who has been inquiring into the question of liquor consumption in Northern Ireland, has obtained from the Secretary to the Treasury a statement showing that during 1931 the following quantities of liquor were retained for consumption in Northern Ireland:—258,000 proof gallons of spirits, 165,000 standard barrels—200,000 bulk barrels—of beer, and 299,000 gallons of wine. The estimated attributable revenue was:—From spirits, £914,000; from beer, £725,000; from wine, £86,000.

The Liberal Party.

A series of area conferences of the Liberal Party, covering some forty districts throughout the country, is being arranged. The object is to discuss the present position of the Liberal Party. Seventeen conferences already have been arranged definitely, while preparations for others are well in hand. The first meeting will be held in London next Tuesday, with Mr. R. D. Acland as the principal speaker.

France's Gold.

The amount of gold in the Bank of France during the present week is over six hundred million pounds at par. Such a sum never before has been held by a European country. France now holds £15 of gold per head of her population, while the United States has about £7 10s., Great Britain about £3, and Germany about 14s. 6d. To offset this, it appears that France has much less wealth abroad than she had in 1930; for in August of that year the Bank of France held two hundred and twenty millions in money market securities and deposits in London and other centres, while at the present time this total is about one hundred and thirty millions, of which about thirty millions are in London. At the moment France has less money in London than she has had at any time during the past four years.

The Lusitania.

If all goes well, Captain Railey's expedition of exploration hopes to begin its operations to locate the Lusitania in the course of the next fortnight. It is known that the great liner lies some 48 fathoms deep, about eight and a half miles south of the Old Head of Kinsale; and information obtained from official sources, including the report of Mr. A. A. Bestic, the only surviving deck officer of the liner, will be very helpful to the explorers. He has been lent to the expedition by the Commissioners of Irish Lights.

Tea Taxation.

Representations have been made to the Chancellor of the Exchequer to secure protection for tea from India and Ceylon in his Budget proposals. Mr. Chamberlain returned a non-committal reply, however, to a deputation which waited on him, and his views on the question of reviving the tea duty, which Mr. Churchill abolished, are uncertain. The proposal is supported by the India Committee of the Conservative Party, which maintains that a small duty on foreign tea, such as one penny on the pound, would be of great assistance to Empire produce.

The World's Sugar.

Since little had been heard of the negotiations for a reduction of the sugar output quota, it was concluded that they had been suspended. This is not so. The negotiations are still in progress, and have reached a delicate stage. There will be a conference of world producers in Paris on March 14th, and the proceedings will be highly important. It is understood that the chief difficulty at present lies in securing agreement between the producers of Java and Cuba. Java has expressed a readiness to limit her crop, and efforts are being made to induce Cuba to restrict her present crop; but no official intimation has been received, and it is rumoured that high production in the island is continuing.

FLIGHT TO AUSTRALIA.

LADY CHAYTOR TO START THIS MORNING.

Lady Chaytor, wife of Sir Edmund Chaytor, of Witton Castle, Durham, will set off from Lympne at 6 a.m. to-day on her flight to Australia, where she will lecture on British fashions. She will be accompanied in her Moth 'plane by Mr. R. T. Richards, a young engineer, who has learned to fly since Christmas. Lady Chaytor flew from Brooklands to Lympne in the 'plane yesterday.

"I am just going to amble along," she said. "My first stop will be Vienna, but I want to get to Australia before the opening of the new Sydney bridge."

The Rev. J. Alfred Sharp, former President of Wesleyan Conference, died at his home at Barnet yesterday in his seventy-sixth year. He entered the ministry in 1880

THE OPENING OF THE NEW DAIL.

ARRANGING FOR TRANSFER OF OFFICES.

MEETING OF WHIPS OF ALL PARTIES.

URGENT FINANCIAL BUSINESS.

MR. DE VALERA has not yet disclosed the personnel of his new Ministry, and is not likely to do so until he announces their names in the Dail on Wednesday or Thursday next. Indeed, it is said that not even his most trusted lieutenants share his secret in this respect.

The probability is that not even Mr. de Valera himself can say definitely at the moment how the portfolios will be allocated.

In the meanwhile, preparations for the change-over are progressing. An important conference of the Whips of the various parties with the Clerk of the Dail (Mr. Colm Murphy) was held yesterday at Leinster House, for the purpose of discussing various details in connection with next Wednesday's meeting of the Dail, the arrangement of urgent business, the seating of the various parties in the Dail, and the transfer of offices to incoming Ministers.

NOMINATION OF NEW MINISTERS.

This meeting was attended by whips of all parties—Mr. E. Duggan, Cumann na nGaedheal; Messrs. F. Aiken and G. Boland, Fianna Fail; Sir James Craig, Independents, and Mr. W. Davin, Labour. An excellent spirit characterised the meeting, and it was noted that, on behalf of the party going out of office, every disposition was shown to make matters as easy as possible for their successors.

After the election of Speaker and President, which will take place on Wednesday, it is likely that the Dail will adjourn for a few hours, and reassemble after Mr. de Valera has received the Royal Assent to his nomination through the Governor-General. On resumption, he will nominate his Ministers, and the House will be asked to assent to them. Whether this will be done en bloc or individually is not yet clear. It is recalled that when Mr. Cosgrave was submitting his Ministers in September, 1927, Mr. de Valera strongly objected to their being presented en bloc, claiming that the House had the right to pronounce its opinion in regard to each separately. On this subject the Speaker (Mr. Hayes) ruled that the established practice was being carried out, and he, accordingly, ruled against Mr. de Valera.

The new President may insist on the procedure he then favoured, or, on the other hand, as time will be precious, he may see the advantage of conforming to the established tradition. If the Opposition were in a critical mood—which is, of course, unlikely—they could challenge a division on every Minister, and thus waste a lot of valuable time.

FINANCIAL BUSINESS.

There are three items of public business, of a financial nature, which, according to statute, must be put through before the 31st of the month. These are certain supplementary estimates, the vote on account and the Central Fund Bill. In regard to these the Cumann na nGaedheal Whip was able to assure the other Whips that every possible facility would be afforded by his party.

The Dail will sit next week on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday; but in the following week it is probable that it will sit on Tuesday and Wednesday only. This is because St. Patrick's Day occurs on the Thursday, and it is not the custom to sit on that day. Indeed, it is hoped that the really urgent business will be concluded on Wednesday, 16th March, and, if so, the intention is to adjourn in order to give the new Ministers an opportunity to familiarise themselves with their new surroundings, and to arrange for the business which their respective departments intend putting before the Dail. The adjournment would presumably last over the period of the Easter holidays, and the Dail would hardly resume before the second or third week in April.

Another matter which will require immediate legislation will be the emergency order for a tariff on imported bacon. This must be passed before the 30th April, or otherwise moneys levied under the original order would have to be refunded.

With regard to the taking over of their new offices, it is understood that, following his election as President, an arrangement will be made for Mr. de Valera to meet the heads of the various Ministries. He will in turn present these to the various new Ministers, who will then be conducted to their various offices in Government Buildings. Under this arrangement retiring Ministers will have no occasion to meet their successors.

There was a further informal meeting of the Executive Council at Government Buildings yesterday.

WEST LIMERICK FARMERS.

FREE HAND TO DAIL REPRESENTATIVE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

NEWCASTLE WEST, Friday.

West Limerick Executive of the Farmers' Association, at a meeting which was held at Newcastle West, decided that their Dail representative, Mr. J. J. O'Shaughnessy, should be given a free hand in the event of an election taking place for the Presidency of the new Government.

The Chairman (Mr. C. D. O'Sullivan) said that he thought it right that they should follow the lead of the country, and instruct Mr. O'Shaughnessy to support Mr. de Valera in the Presidential election.

Other members supported the Chairman's suggestion.

Mr. Condon said that in the past they had excluded politics, and in the interests of the organisation they should continue to do so.

ANOTHER KIDNAPPING.

LATEST DEVELOP- MENT IN AMERICA.

MRS. LINDBERGH'S PPEAL TO ABDUCTORS.

A LETTER demanding the fifty thousand dollars ransom on pain of death of e Lindbergh baby has been taken from e mails by the postal officials and given the police, states a Reuter message from ashington.

The letter says: "Your baby is safe t fifty thousand dollars as shown in e accompanying diagram. We are on e look-out, and if anything goes wrong e kid will be killed. We are not fool- ."

The police are unable, however, to cipher the diagram.

It was stated at the office of the vernor of New Jersey in Trenton last ening that a long conference lasting eral hours with Miss Betty Gow, the rse in charge of the Lindbergh baby, d shown conclusively that she had no nection whatever with the affair.

"SCOTTY" FOUND.

The man "Scotty," for whom an in- sive search was conducted throughout day, was discovered in jail, says a ton message.

Patsy Orlondo, of Hopewell (N.J.), near re the Lindbergh home is situated, was arrested at Brooklyn yesterday afternoon, where he has been living under the name of Patsy Mucciola since he left Hopewell on the night of the kidnapping. He was immediately taken to Trenton. The New York police refused to give any details.

A pathetic appeal to the kidnappers was issued yesterday by Mrs. Lindbergh, in the course of which she said:—

"We urge those who have him (the baby) to send any representative that they desire to meet ours, who will do so at any time or place that the kidnappers may designate. If this is accepted we promise that we will keep whatever arrangements may be made by their representative and ours as strictly confidential. We further pledge ourselves that we will not try to injure in any way those connected with the return of the child."

THE DE JUTE CASE.

The Federal Government has ordered every agency of the Department of Justice to help in the search that is also being carried out for James de Jute, the eleven years' old child of a wealthy contractor who was kidnapped from Niles (Ohio) shortly after the Lindbergh kidnapping. The Federal Government orders that exactly the same facilities that are being given for the Lindbergh baby should be extended to James de Jute.

The sensational kidnapping of the de Jute boy has been completely overshadowed by the news of the Lindbergh baby until to-day, when threats to murder the boy if the ransom is not paid at once are said to have been sent to the frantic father.

AIR CHAMPIONS OF THE WORLD.

HONOURS FOR BRITISH FLIERS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Friday.

General Balbo, the Italian Air Minister, has been chosen by the International League of Aviators an international champion for the year in recognition of his flight with an Italian squadron to South America last year.

Mr. Bert Hinkler, by achieving the first non-stop solo flight from South America to Africa, and Miss Amy Johnson, with her daring solo trip to Tokyo and back in the summer, have earned for themselves the title of British champions; while Miss Peggy Salaman has been awarded a medal of honour for her "record" flight from England to the Cape.

Dr. Eckener, of Graf Zeppelin fame, has been chosen the dirigible balloon champion, and Professor Piccard, who created history with his thrilling ascent into the stratosphere, is the spherical balloon champion.

ELECTED ON FIRST COUNT.

LEITRIM-SLIGO RESULTS.

THREE FORMER MEMBERS.

THE first results in the Sligo-Leitrim election, announced last night, show that two Fianna Fail candidates and one Cumann na nGaedheal candidate have been returned on the first count.

There are seven seats. Those elected on the first count were members of the last Dail. They are:—

Frank Carty (F.F.).
Martin Roddy (C. na nG.).
Ben Maguire (F.F.).

The counting of the first preferences occupied ten hours, after which surplus votes were distributed.

The constituency was represented in the last Dail by four Cumann na nGaedheal and three Fianna Fail members.

BELFAST AND R.M. SCHEME.

POSITION OF HARLAND AND WOLFF'S.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Friday.

An application will be made in the Chancery Division, Belfast, on Monday, before Mr. Justice Megaw, for authority to call a meeting of creditirs of Messrs. Harland and Wolff, Ltd., to consider the Royal Mail re-organisation scheme, in so far as this comanpy is concerned. Assuming the necessary leave is given, the meeting will be held in London before the end of the month.

The scheme has been well received in Belfast, where the importance of the continuance of the various lines of the Royal Mail group is fully appreciated. The new operating groups will be faced with intense foreign competition on all the routes which they operate, and if this is to be successfully overcome the fleets will require to be kept thoroughly up-to-date. It is declared that almost all the lines of the Royal Mail group require new modern ships, which have not been ordered in recent years owing to the financial stringency. It is expected that as the new operating companies may start with a "clean slate," they will be in a position early in their career to order new vessels of the latest and most economical type or recondition some of the existing fleet. It is hoped that a good portion of this work may be carried out at Messrs. Harland and Wolff's Belfast yards, which at present have a minimum of work on hand.

OBITUARY.

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL J. H. REYNOLDS, V.C.

The death occurred in a London nursing home yesterday of Lieutenant-Colonel J. H. Reynolds, V.C., one of the oldest V.C.'s in the British Army, and one of the last survivors of Rorke's Drift.

He was born eighty-eight years ago, and was the second son of the late Mr. L. Reynolds, J.P., of Dalyston House, Granard, Co. Longford. Educated at Castleknock College and Trinity College, Dublin, he joined the 36th Regiment as a medical officer in 1869. He had a distinguished career in the Kaffir War, 1877-78, and served throughout the Zulu War of 1879 when he took part in the defence of Rorke's Drift, and was with the troops in the Laager during the engagement at Ulundi. He got special promotion and was awarded the V.C. for conspicuous bravery during the attack at Rorke's Drift on 22nd and 23rd of January, fifty-three years ago.

Lieutenant-Colonel Reynolds, says The Times, was one of the three senior V.C.'s who attended the dinner in the Royal Gallery of the House of Lords, at which the Prince of Wales presided, in November, 1929. One, General Sir Reginald Hart, has since died, but the third, Private John Williams, also a hero of Rorke's Drift, survives. Reynolds received special promotion; was elected an Honorary Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians of Ireland; was made Honorary LL.D. of Dublin, and was awarded a gold medal by the British Medical Association.

PROFESSOR G. GREGORY SMITH.

Professor George Gregory Smith, Emeritus Professor of English Literature at Queen's University, Belfast, died at his residence in Ashley Gardens, Westminster, on Thursday, at the age of 66. Gregory Smith, says The Times, possessed a wonderful equipment as a teacher and student of English and Scottish literature. It is significant that his first published work was historical; it dealt with the days of James IV. of Scotland, and appeared in a series edited by York Powell. The book was compiled from contemporary Royal letters, State papers and somewhat obscure chroniclers. Gregory Smith's approach to literature was historical rather than æsthetic, and in his devotion to the history of his subject he was naturally led into the study of the linguistic side of it also, and he has a stout book on Middle Scots to his credit.

FREE STATE'S HOUSING.

SCOPE OF NEW ACT.

FUTURE OF STATE ASSISTANCE.

CIRCULAR TO LOCAL BODIES.

THE Free State Department of Local Government and Public Health has forwarded to the various local bodies a circular which explains the general scope of the Housing (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1931, and requests them to call a special meeting at an early date to formulate definite proposals for the carrying out of a housing programme in their area.

The circular points out that the objects of the first four parts of the Act are to provide a new and improved method of procedure for the clearance and the opening up of unhealthy areas in urban districts, and the repair and demolition of unhealthy dwelling-houses, and to make certain other amendments in the enactments relating to the housing of the working classes which experience has shown to be desirable or necessary.

The houses erected during the past ten years, it states, have included comparatively few for the re-housing of persons living in slum areas and insanitary houses. That was inevitable, owing to the low capacity of persons living in such areas to pay rents, the high cost of building, and the limited financial assistance available from public funds.

Part VIII. of the Act provides that State assistance will in future be paid by way of annual subsidy as a percentage on loan charges, and not, as hitherto, in lump-sum grants per house. Special assistance will be given where local authorities undertake the re-housing of persons living in slum areas. Such special provision will amount in the earlier years to thirty per cent. on the loan charges where the persons are being re-housed in single-family dwellings; and where it is found necessary to re-house in flats in central areas the rate of subsidy proposed is forty per cent. of the loan charges over a similar period. Notwithstanding the generous assistance available from State sources, it is obvious that there can be no relaxation in the efforts which have been made to bring the cost of building within reasonable limits.

THE CLASS OF HOUSE.

The Minister considers that local authorities should confine their efforts for the present to the provision of small houses of the three or four-roomed type, and the specification should, with due regard to the durability of the houses, eliminate all non-essentials. He stresses the use of home manufacture in the carrying out of the scheme, and points out that, with the exception of timber, cement, earthenware goods and the like, virtually everything required for the building of working-class houses can be obtained of home manufacture.

The Act also offers financial assistance to public utility and philanthropic societies for the erection of houses for workers, as it is felt that it is only by the co-operation of all sections of the community that the conditions under which so many of the inhabitants of the cities and towns live, can be effectively remedied. The attention of the rural sanitary authorities is directed to the facilities offered for the building of labourers' cottages. For the past ten years State funds were not available for capital advances for the purposes of the Labourers Acts, but in the future loans can be advanced from the Local Loans Funds for the purposes of the Acts, and, in addition, a substantial annual contribution will be made towards the payment of the loan charges on such advances.

With a view to encouraging the erection of houses by private persons, the Act amends the Small Dwellings Acquisition Acts, and enables advances to be made to persons who intend to erect houses. Hitherto such advances could be made only for the purchase of completed houses, but the present Act enables them to be made by way of instalments during the progress of the work.

The circular urges that, where sufficient land is not already in possession for the building of houses, the local authorities should take steps to acquire it, either by agreement or by compulsion.

PRINCIPAL AMENDMENTS.

Among the principal amendments of the law relating to the housing of the working classes are the following:—

Section 31 makes the landlord always responsible for letting and keeping the house in a state reasonably fit for habitation.

The owners, under Section 33, are liable for the expenses of the recovery of possession of buildings, subject to a clearance or demolition order.

Section 36 gives power to a local authority to make allowances to certain displaced persons. This power will enable a local authority to secure the peaceable vacation of premises for a reasonable payment, without resort to possibly more expensive legal proceedings.

The local authorities are empowered by Section 37 to acquire land for the purpose of Part III. of the Act of 1890 by means of a compulsory purchase order made by them and confirmed by the Minister.

Section 38 enables local authorities to acquire land by agreement for the purposes of Part III. of the Act of 1890, notwithstanding that the land is not immediately required for the purpose.

DERELICT SITES.

A local authority under Section 39 may acquire, either by agreement or compulsorily, a derelict site for the purposes of Part III. of the Act of 1890. The compensation to be paid for a derelict site which is acquired compulsorily shall be the value of the land cleared of buildings, less such sum as shall be estimated to be the cost of clearing and levelling the land.

Section 41 enables a local authority to get early possession of land which has been authorised to be acquired for the purposes of the Acts.

Town Commissioners of any town under the Towns Improvement (Ireland) Act, 1854, shall, under Section 43, be a local authority for the purposes of Part I. and II. of the Act as amended.

Section 48 regulates the costs that shall be payable to solicitors by a local authority in respect of the acquisition of land for the purposes of the Housing of the Working Classes Acts.

FURTHER RISE IN STERLING.

1932 SUMMIT REACHED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Friday.

Sterling reached its highest point this year to-day, the closing quotation being 3 dollars 50⅜ cents, a rise of 1¼ cents. The improvement coincides with the re-payment of the Morgan credit by the British Treasury, and with the movement of French funds to London.

GUN TRAFFIC IN BENGAL.

TWO EUROPEANS SENTENCED.

TERRORISTS TURN TO BLACKMAIL.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

CALCUTTA, Friday.

THE ruse of a police officer, who, by wearing a Gandhi cap and clothes made of khaddar (homespun), succeeded in dispelling the suspicions of two middle-aged Europeans whom he suspected of being prepared to sell arms to anarchists, was described at the High Court Sessions to-day.

The two men, whose names were given as W. E. Murphy and W. Rankin, were described as European engineers, and they were charged with attempting to sell an unlicensed revolver of American make.

The prosecution alleged that the men were on the look-out for an opportunity of selling the weapon to anarchists, who were usually prepared to pay a high price. A police officer succeeded in gaining the accused's confidence by wearing khaddar, and they were arrested when the weapon was produced.

The accused men, who denied their guilt, were both sentenced to two years' rigorous imprisonment.

EXTORTION FROM DOCTOR.

Allegations that a physician of Calcutta had been subjected to blackmail as the price of his immunity from the activities of the revolutionaries in Bengal were made when Amitav Bhowmik, a Bengali youth, was charged with extorting money and threatening dacoity by revolutionaries.

The physician, giving evidence, said that the youth told him that prominent citizens of Calcutta were handing over to the revolutionaries money and motor cars, following the receipt of threatening letters from the group to which Bhowmik said he belonged, and demanded that he should do likewise. The physician stated that he gave some money, but refused a car.

He added that he did not inform the police, as he was in fear of his life. However, the matter leaked out when Dr. B. E. Ghose, a Congress Alderman of the Calcutta Corporation, informed the police of the receipt of a letter demanding money "for the relief of the revolutionaries."

CRASHED UPSIDE DOWN.

ENGINEER'S REPORT ON MR. SCALLY'S DEATH.

FROM A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

MARSEILLES, Friday.

Mr. L. J. Stanton, the engineer who came from Dublin to ascertain the cause of the air accident in which Mr. Manco Scally, the Irish airman, lost his life in a crash at Berre near here, has completed his examination of the wreckage of the Comper "Swift" aeroplane which Mr. Scally was flying, and stated to-day that it is definite that the accident was not due to any mechanical failure; for he found no trace of any defect in the machine during the course of his investigations.

He questioned a number of eye-witnesses of the accident, and officers of the Maritime Hydroplane Station here, and states that, in his opinion, the crash was primarily due to the bad light and the pilot's failing to observe soon enough tall poplar trees along the edge of the field in which he was attempting to land.

Officers of the Hydroplane Station first observed the aeroplane approaching Berre in the failing light at about 5.20 p.m., and said that it circled the village of Berre twice, apparently looking for a landing ground, but in the dusk the pilot was unable to see the Marignane Aerodrome, which is a short distance away on the other side of the lake, and attempted to land in a suitable field about fifty yards from the spot where he crashed. Several eye-witnesses, continued Mr. Stanton, concur that in making a steep turn at a height of about fifty feet to get through the poplar trees Mr. Scally inadvertently turned the aeroplane on its back, and from this position it crashed to the ground. Mr. Stanton said that from an examination of the attitude of the machine as it lay on the ground it was evident that it must have been upside down at, or just before, the moment of impact. The aeroplane, he concluded, was a complete "write-off," but the engine was not too badly damaged and would be shipped back to England.

Mr. Stanton left here for London by air to-day en route for Dublin.

FLOWERS AND TOMATOES.

DEMAND FOR IRISH TARIFFS.

A TARIFF of 100 per cent. on cut flowers and a tariff on tomatoes on a higher scale than in England in the glut season were proposed at a meeting of the recently-formed Irish Glasshouse and Market Gardeners' Association, held at 110 Grafton street, Dublin, yesterday.

Mr. F. H. ffrench Davis, who presided, mentioned that, when the new tariff on cut flowers in England came into operation, they came to the conclusion that a considerable surplus of Dutch and German produce would be diverted to this country. There was a large quantity of French, Dutch and other produce being sold at prices less than the cost of bulbs which those countries supplied, and it was impossible for anyone here importing Dutch bulbs to compete on the flower market.

Mr. Gilthorpe, Secretary, mentioned that they proposed to ask for 100 per cent. tariff on flowers, bulbs and plants, but not to include English produce. They had been referred by the Ministry of Industry and Commerce to the Department of Agriculture, but the only result had been a visit from inspectors of that Department asking for information. Mr. Sean MacEntee, when interviewed, however, had given them encouragement.

Eventually the meeting decided to ask for 100 per cent. tariff on cut flowers.

Mr. Gilthorpe said that he thought they should also demand a tariff on tomatoes somewhat on the lines of the English tariff, and it was agreed to ask for a tariff of threepence per lb. on net weight of imported tomatoes in June, twopence per lb. in July, and one penny per lb. afterwards.

It was decided to ask for a tariff of sixpence per lb. on all salads and vegetables.

The adoption of a trade mark for use by members of the Association was left in abeyance until the new Government has been consulted on the question of a national mark.

CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL.

The special preacher at afternoon Service to-morrow in Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin, will be the Rev. William Paton, M.A., editor of the International Review of Missions and secretary of the International Missionary Council. Mr. Paton was formerly secretary of the International Christian Council of India. His subject will be "The Ground of the Christian World Mission."

The preacher at morning Service (11 o'clock) will be the Rev. Canon Monk Gibbon, Rector of Taney (Dundrum).

JAPAN TO DEMAND AN INDEMNITY.

STRONG RESOLUTION PASSED BY ASSEMBLY.

NEED FOR STRENGTHENING LEAGUE COVENANT.

THERE was no war yesterday in the Shanghai district; and yet there was no peace. Neither a truce nor an armistice exists. There is only a state of armed tension.

China has definitely rejected the Japanese "basic terms" for the final cessation of hostilities. According to a semi-official despatch from Tokyo, the Japanese Government, in addition to its basic terms, claims the right to demand payment for damage arising from the fighting in Shanghai, and also the strict suppression of anti-Japanese activities.

The impression left by yesterday's proceedings at Geneva was that the Assembly is determined to take a much stronger line that that adopted in the Council, and that the smaller States, in particular, intend to emphasise the necessity of strengthening the Covenant.

The resolution passed by the Assembly, calling on the parties concerned to suspend hostilities, makes a breach of this injunction a serious matter.

JAPANESE FORCES STILL LANDING

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

GENEVA, Friday.

THE conflict in the Far East was transferred to the General Commission of the League Assembly this afternoon, when Mr. Sato and Dr. Yen, the Japanese and Chinese representatives, again brought forward their cases in a crowded and deeply-thrilled house.

Dr. Yen read from a telegram just received tragic details of conditions at the front.

"Our regiments defending Woosung were killed to the last man rather than surrender," he declared. "Foreign eye-witnesses saw peasants being forced by Japanese at the bayonet point to throw the corpses of our soldiers in the river.

"In addition to 35,000 men landed at Kuansan, forty miles west of Shanghai," Dr. Yen further stated, "other Japanese forces have landed at Pootung, on the eastern bank of the Whangpoo, in order to strike at the Hangchow region.

"Japanese military officers make no secret of their intention to take the entire region between Shanghai and Nanking."

AN UNFORTUNATE WORD.

Speaking more vigorously than he has yet done before the Assembly, the Chinese representative continued, "I must insist, Mr. President, that you authorise the admirals and high neutral military officers at Shanghai to see that hostilities cease, and that the cessation is maintained until the terms of the armistice can be arranged."

Mr. Sato, who had earlier explained that the continued hostilities were merely skirmishes, due to the exigencies of "war," which word was afterwards changed to "hostilities," declared that the reinforcements had been arranged for earlier, and their landing was merely a natural development of the situation.

There were loud murmurs and some laughter in the galleries at this remark, and the President called for order. Mr. Sato did not speak with his usual assurance, seeming to realise that the current of feeling was against him.

THE RESOLUTION.

After an hour's deliberation the Executive laid the following draft resolution before the Commission:—"Recalling the suggestions made by the Council on February 29th, and without prejudice to the other measures therein envisaged, the Assembly

"1—Calls the Governments of China and Japan to take immediately the necessary measures to ensure that the orders, which, as it has been informed, have been issued by the military commanders on both sides for the cessation of hostilities, shall be made effective.

"2—Requests the other Powers which have special interests in the Shanghai Settlements to inform the Assembly of the manner in which the invitation, set out in the previous paragraph, has been executed.

"3—Recommends that negotiations be entered into with the Chinese and Japanese representatives, with the assistance of the military, naval and civilian authorities of the Powers mentioned above, for the conclusion of arrangements which shall render definite the cessation of hostilities and regulate the withdrawal of the Japanese forces.

"The Assembly will be glad to be kept informed by the Powers of the development of the negotiations."

AMENDMENT DROPPED.

Mr. Sato declared that Japan was prepared to accept the first and second points, but would like the words "as well as the future situation of the Chinese forces" added to paragraph three after the words "to regulate the withdrawal of the Japanese forces."

There was a somewhat prolonged argument between him and the Chairman (M. Hymans), who finally declared very curtly, "Well, let the Assembly speak," and threw open the matter for debate.

M. Motta, the President of the Swiss Republic, after pointing out that under Article 15 the vote of the parties to a dispute was not necessary, said that the principle of the withdrawal of the Japanese forces could not be questioned; it was admitted by Japan and claimed as a national right by China. To add any conditions would jeopardise the principle, which was inadmissible.

Dr. Benes, the Czechoslovak Foreign Minister, supported M. Motta, and suggested that a vote should be taken immediately.

Recognising that opposition was futile, M. Sato yielded with good grace, and said that the Japanese delegation would not oppose the adoption of the resolution, and a plenary meeting of the League Assembly unanimously adopted the resolution on a nominal roll-call. The Assembly adjourned until to-morrow.

IS JAPAN STILL ATTACKING?

CONFLICTING REPORTS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

SHANGHAI, Friday.

Reports from trustworthy Chinese sources, both here and in Nanking, received during the day, stated that severe fighting was going on between Chinese and Japanese forces to the west of Nanhsiang, but Japanese military headquarters this afternoon officially denied that there had been any fighting anywhere since the order to cease fire yesterday.

The Chinese Foreign Minister announced to-day that the Chinese troops would continue to resist further Japanese attacks. He continued, "China has never declared war against Japan, and while she resisted the Japanese attacks she accepted the friendly mediation of the Powers. China can only discuss and accept terms which are compatible with the national dignity, are reasonable, and do not prejudice China's sovereign rights.

"The National Government has declared that it will not yield under the military pressure of Japan, and this policy continues."

In Nantao, the Chinese city, the inhabitants are filled with alarm by Japanese threats to bomb this densely-populated southern suburb of Shanghai if the Japanese, who are policing Chapei, are molested.

Meanwhile, the Japanese front line, extending from Liuho to Chenzu, has been completely consolidated

FROM "THE TIMES."

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

EMPIRE CLEARING-HOUSE.

The Times to-day, in a leading article on "An Empire Clearing-House," says: There are many difficulties in the way of setting up permanent machinery of the kind desired by the Trades Union Congress and the Federation of British Industries. But they are difficulties which must be overcome; for without a permanent clearing-house of information and suggestion, co-operation can be only fitful—a thing of shreds and patches. In 1930 one unnecessary difficulty was caused by the name given in the joint memorandum to the suggested permanent link between successive conferences. The words "Commonwealth Economic Secretariat" conjured up visions in some minds of a bureaucratic body seated in Whitehall, subservient to the British Treasury, constantly extending its authority, dictating policy to the Dominion Governments, and gradually encroaching on the fiscal and economic rights which every Dominion regards as sacrosanct.

This misunderstanding was fatal to the suggestion two years ago, and it must be dissipated before July if anything is to come of the scheme. No such body, of course, is contemplated either by the Trades Union Congress or the Federation of British Industries, or by anybody else. What it is desired to establish is an organisation subordinate to all the Governments of the Empire, in much the same way, for example, as is the Imperial War Graves Commission. It would have no executive powers, but would collect information on economic affairs, study economic questions on behalf of the Governments, and report to them on the progress made in giving practical effect to the desire for economic co-operation, and on fresh opportunities for such co-operation as they arose. It may not even prove necessary to create an entirely new organisation for this purpose. The end required might, it is conceivable, be served by some amalgamation of the functions of the Empire Marketing Board, the Imperial Economic Committee, and other bodies dealing with imperial economic affairs. Duplication and overlapping must be avoided, but, in one form or another, machinery should be devised to make co-operation continuous, increasing constantly both in scope and in intimacy.

DUBLIN HOUSING PROBLEM.

HALF-MILLION LOAN FOR CORPORATION.

THE Dublin Corporation, in pursuance of its housing policy, has kept pace with its sheduled programme of building, in so far as funds have been at its disposal. In the work allocated to the first year of the plan to expend £5,000,000 on housing in the space of five years, at the rate of a million a year, further steps have been taken to provide the requisite funds.

The Committee having charge of the financing of the Corporation's housing scheme has negotiated with the banks for a further advance of nearly half a million of money. This will be issued at 4½ per cent., between the present time and the month of October, all the conditions of the money market being considered favourable to the operation.

The placing of this £500,000 at the disposal of the Corporation ensures continuity in its endeavour to assist in solving the housing problem.

GREAT SOUTHERN RAILWAYS MEETING.

CHAIRMAN'S REVIEW OF YEAR.

HOW DISCRIMINATION HITS COMPANIES.

SHAREHOLDERS CRITICISE DIRECTORS.

DR. SHERLOCK'S PRACTICAL PROPOSAL.

THE annual general meeting of the Great Southern Railways Company was held in the Gresham Hotel, Dublin, yesterday. Sir Walter R. Nugent, Bart., D.L., chairman, presided, and the other directors present were:—Major H. A. Henry, vice-chairman; Mr. P. J. Brady, the Right Hon. H. G. Burgess, P.C., LL.D.; Lieutenant-Colonel T. A. E. Cairnes, Mr. C. D. Evans, Mr J. P. Goodbody, Mr. Arthur Jackson, D.L.; the Right Hon. James MacMahon, P.C.; Mr. A. R. MacMullen, Dr. W. Lombard Murphy.

The Chairman, in proposing the adoption of the annual report, said:—

"The gross receipts for the year 1931 are £3,617,148, as compared with £3,961,813 for 1930, showing a decrease of £344,665. The expenditure for the year was £2,891,836, as compared with £3,247,855 for 1930, showing a decrease of £356,019. The net income for the year, including receipts from all sources, is £834,915. To this sum must be added £43,515 brought in from 1930, leaving the whole amount to be dealt with £878,430. After deducting £506,999, which includes Debenture interest amounting to £332,952 for the whole year, and other interest, rentals, fixed charges and interim dividends, already declared, there remains a surplus of £371.431. To this sum it is proposed to add £50,000 withdrawn from Settlement of Claims Fund, and, after setting aside a provision of £100,000 for permanent way renewals, to pay dividends at the rate of four per cent. per annum on Guaranteed Preference Stock, at the rate of four per cent. per annum on Preference Stock, and a dividend of ten shillings per cent. on the Ordinary Stock for the year. From the figures set out it will be apparent that a dividend of one-half per cent. on the Ordinary Stock could have been paid and a surplus of £52,150 carried forward without encroaching on the Settlement of Claims Fund had no extra provision for renewals been made.

BRANCH LINES.

"The directors, having regard to the fact that expenditure on the permanent way had been curtailed, or postponed, owing to the uncertainty which existed re the closing of non-paying branch lines—as well as by the singling of the lines—thought it desirable to make provision for such further expenditure as might appear necessary when the position became better defined, so that no money might be unnecessarily spent on lines which subsequent experience might show could not be economically kept open.

"The company is not to close branch lines if they can be, by any means, made self-supporting; but where the residents in rural districts decline to support the railway and give all their custom to the roads the company has no option except to cease a service which is neither used nor desired.

"The fall in receipts was more than offset by the reduction in expenditure, so that the net result of the year's working was £9,830 better than last year. The further sum of £18,750 has been written off the £85,000 originally paid to the Irish Omnibus Company, bringing the balance outstanding down to £36,562, and £703 has been charged to a suspense account. The Railway Company's share of loss under the Irish Omnibus Company's working agreement—viz., £2,881—has been included under the heading of expenditure.

"The figures I have submitted will make clear the efforts, the directors and officers of the company have made in the past year to maintain the solvency and protect the shareholders, as well as to provide adequate road and rail services over the entire Free State.

EQUALITY OF TREATMENT.

"Last year I indicated that we had reason to hope for legislation which would materially improve the railway position, and the object we set out to achieve was to put the amalgamated railways in the position of being able to provide all transport, both by road and rail, necessary to supply efficient services over the entire system. I approached the Minister for Industry and Commerce, pointing out our capacity to carry on such efficient services over the entire Free State at flat rates approved by the Government. We realised the difficulties and objections which would, no doubt, be raised against granting such a monopoly, and did not ask for those powers in the draft bill we submitted to the Government. What we did ask, and press for, was equality of treatment with all road motor services, more especially with lorries plying for hire on the thoroughfares of the country.

"This demand, which was described as unreasonable, was absolutely identical with the demand made by the representatives of all the railways in the world at the Congress held in Madrid two years ago, and it was reiterated recently by the associated general managers of all the railways in Great Britain, and not a fragment of a case has ever been made against it. Why should road lorries be placed in a preferred position as compared with the railways? Why should they be free from all rules and reservations imposed on rail-borne goods? Why, for instance, is live stock allowed to be carried in road lorries, free from all restrictions as to rates and over-crowding, and not even subject to sanitary inspection, the same lorries being used, perhaps, one way for the carriage of all sorts of miscellaneous articles? Has any good reason ever been advanced for this preference? We fully realise that, as long as the majority of the people of the country are apathetic as to the future of railways, no Government could pass restrictive legislation. What we are trying to do, therefore, is to make the position clear, so that every citizen of the Free State can form his own opinion and give expression to it. This is not, and it should not be made, a political issue.

ROAD AND RAIL COMPETITION.

"Transport is to-day the most vital question everywhere, and, as I pointed out last year, in no part of the world was the whole matter of road and rail competition allowed to drift as it has been, until quite recently, in Great Britain and the Irish Free State. The second point in connection with the Railway Bill is the question of baronial guaranteed lines, which is one about which there has been a great deal of misunderstanding. The facts are as follows:—At the time of amalgamation the Great Southern Railways Company was obliged to take over (1) a number of unremunerative lines, the guarantee in respect of which had expired long previous to amalgamation, and to issue to the shareholders of same Debenture or Preference Stock of the amalgamated companies sufficient to pay the dividends previously guaranteed by the baronies; and (2) to take over a number of non-paying lines, the dividends on which were baronially secured in perpetuity. These lines were in 1923 run at a net loss of £41,000 per annum. In addition to taking over this big annual loss, the amalgamated company had to issue Preference Stock, and in some cases Debenture Stock, to the guaranteed shareholders, sufficient to enable them to receive in full the dividends on the original Baronial Guaranteed Stock held by them; the amount of these dividends was £48,688. Under the Railways Act, 1924, it was provided that the Government should for a period of ten years indemnify the railway company for the payment of this annual sum. We have had, therefore, since amalgamation to maintain and carry on these non-paying lines at at increasing annual loss, and have not benefited to the extent of one penny by the annual subsidy above-mentioned, which had to be passed on to the baronial shareholders. After 1934, unless the law is in the meantime changed, not merely will we be obliged to incur the heavy loss of running and maintaining these unremunerative lines, but we will also be legally obliged to undertake the further obligation of paying £48,688 per annum from our earned revenue, this being a burden which up to that date has to be borne by the State.

"TRAVESTY OF JUSTICE."

"It should here be said that when the Amalgamation Act was passed it was never contemplated that this obviously inequitable situation should arise, the contention being that the Great Southern Railways would be recouped for any possible loss incurred by the fixing of standard net revenue, new rates and fares, which did not materialise. No one will deny that this glaring travesty of justice should not be allowed to continue, and that the necessary legislation to prevent it should be introduced at the earliest possible opportunity.

The Railway Miscellaneous Act just passed was expected, and I have no doubt, was intended to be for the general relief of the railways; but so far as it dealt with baronially guaranteed lines, I think I have shown that it fell very short of the most conservative requirements. The only provision it makes is to give power to the Minister for Industry and Commerce to close branch lines, but only on condition that adequate alternative road services are supplied by the railway company or some other transport body.

No provision is made for indemnifying the railway company or other transport company against loss incurred in running the new prescribed services, and it is difficult therefore to see what relief the railway company will get by closing unremunerative branch lines if equally unprofitable road services are to be substituted for them.

ROAD MOTOR SERVICES.

"I will now turn to our contributory road motor services—viz., the Irish Omnibus Company and John Wallis and Co., about which caustic references are constantly being made both in the Press and the Oireachtas. Some years ago, when road competition first came into prominence we acquired a controlling influence in the Irish Omnibus Company with a view to protecting the railway against extravagant opposition, and also for serving parts of the country which could not be profitably served by the railways. In order to keep inside the law we had to maintain the Irish Omnibus Company as a separate company, which we did after getting the best legal advice obtainable. It was a long uphill job, which is only just beginning to bear fruit. The new Road Transport bills will enable us, in the future, to avoid duplication and to make a much more thorough use of this system.

"John Wallis and Co.—the control of which was recently acquired—is in precisely the same position, but in this case the system has paid ever since the date of taking over, and we expect great benefit, both directly and indirectly, to be derived from it during the current year.

"It is opportune to direct attention to the extended system of door-to-door collection and delivery services, provided by John Wallis and Sons, in conjunction with expedited goods trains, which afford all possible transport facilities to patrons of this company. It is also proper to express a hope that in their own interests our shareholders and staffs, as well as traders who desire to preserve the railways, will lend their active help to the promotion and development of this service.

"I am glad to be able to say, with regard to the Irish Omnibus Company, that signs of improvement are becoming evident. Though the first half of the year shows a loss, the last six months show a considerable profit, which there is every likelihood will be maintained and, we hope, gradually increased. I want to make it clear that, notwithstanding all we can do, unless the discrimination against the railways is removed, as far as haulage of goods is concerned, they have no chance of regaining the position they have lost, and at the best will fall into the position of adjuncts to other forms of transport. By extending our operations to the roads we are endeavouring to protect our shareholders during what we hope is only a period of transition, so as to be in a position to take advantage of future favourable legislation, which is long due, and which we intend, I hope, with your co-operation and assistance, to continue to press for.

"CUTTING OF FARES."

"Before leaving the Road Service Department it is necessary for me to say a word about the alleged competition and cutting of fares between the railway subsidiary services and the railway itself. When the road services were purchased or acquired the competition of 'pirate' companies on the roads was becoming so strong that if it had been allowed to continue unchecked until restrictive legislation was introduced the railway shareholders would have long ceased to receive any dividends, and the railway company would not now be in a position, or have the means, to acquire road services. Neither could it compete against the cutting of rates and fares on the roads—being hampered by restrictions, from which the road services were free. What we could not do as a Railway Company we were, however, able to do by means of separate road services, and we did so with such effect that the road services controlled by us have now an established title on all the roads of the country, and are in a position to furnish adequate services over the entire Free State.

"The legal aspect has been changed by the passing of the Transport Bill, and we are now in a position further to co-ordinate all our services and subsidiary companies under the absolute control of the Great Southern Railways. Though that circumstance will not afford any really substantial reduction in the cost of executive working we are availing ourselves of the opportunity to effect a reduction in overhead and other expenditures. We have carefully considered the desirability of discontinuing the separate corporate existence of the two subsidiary companies. Having regard, however, to the fact that we look for early legislation in relief of the pressing handicaps from which the railways are suffering, and to other aspects of the position, which it would not be wise publicly to discuss, we have been advised, and we have decided to retain these two companies for the present in their existing capacities, with a common board of three directors only, two of whom shall receive fees.

"Dealing with departmental work done in the year, probably that of the Locomotive Department provides the greatest interest, owing to the experimental work which has been successfully carried out, at the instance of the Government, testing the Drumm Battery, from which has resulted the erection of the Drumm train, which is now in service on part of our system. A second train is rapidly approaching completion. The cost of the Drumm batteries for both these trains is borne by the firm of Celia, Ltd., and the Government has indemnified the company against loss in regard to the project generally. This was, of course, entirely new work for our staff to undertake—it was a work of more than national importance—and the greatest possible credit is due to all concerned for the way in which Dr. Drumm's invention was adapted to practical use.

TOTAL TRAIN MILES.

"The total revenue expenditure for the Locomotive, Carriage, and Wagon Departments for the year 1931 amounted to £1,153,194, as compared with £1,283,656 for the corresponding period, showing a decrease of £130,462. The total train miles worked by our locomotives during 1931 was 9,195,015, as against 9,581,653 in the previous year, a decrease of 386,638 miles. During the year 34 new locomotive boilers, 2 new dining cars, 2 first and third bogie composite carriages and the Drumm electric train were turned out of the company's workshops, in addition to which 22 'buses were built in Inchicore Works for the Irish Omnibus Company.

"In view of the Eucharistic Congress, as well as the Cork Exhibition and Tailteann Games which will be held during the year, special arrangements are being made to have the maximum number possible of the company's locomotives and carriages available for traffic use during the period of pressure that is expected."

"Passenger numbers and receipts for the year 1931 again show considerable decreases as compared with the corresponding period. The decrease in numbers amounts to 6.48 per cent., while the decrease in receipts reaches the high figure of 12.77 per cent. The legislation recently passed—though it may afford some relief to the passenger department—does not give any protection against road competition in the carriage of goods. The percentage reduction of over 14 in live stock numbers and receipts is very unsatisfactory.

"The reserves, after making the £50,000 transfer to net income and transfers for renewal work, and after the payment of all dividends, are £1,536,381, as against £1,502,132 in 1930. They are made up of—

Speaking of the results achieved by the directors, the Chairman said:—"It is, perhaps, all the more astonishing that this is the year in which the greatest amount of criticism has been launched against the directors, who some critics allege have interested themselves too much in the affairs of the company. Do you ever ask yourselves what would have been the position of the railway to-day if the Board had neglected their responsibilities and if they had not taken the very big risks they did take some years ago to protect the railway, and, at the same time, to acquire rights and, as far as the law allowed, effective control of the roads? Individual directors have been singled out for attack, but those attacked were the men who did the most effective work to make possible the great schemes of reorganisation and economy which are now in hands, and to whom the shareholders owe the most. I gladly avail myself of this opportunity to assure the shareholders that their Board is an entirely and happily united body. I would like also to express our grateful appreciation of the confidence and trust reposed in the directors by the great bulk of the shareholders, as evidenced by the proxies received for this meeting, which in their number and value very substantially exceed the highest recorded in any previous year. We have no apology to make; we have done our best, and will, as long as we retain your confidence, continue our efforts to make the Great Southern Railway system the most up-to-date, as it is the only universal rail and road service covering the entire Free State."

Major H. A. Henry formally seconded the motion.

DIRECTORS' POLICY APPROVED.

Mr. Adam Lloyd-Blood, in the course of his speech said: I have no hesitation in recommending the stockholders present at this meeting to support the directors in giving effect to their proclaimed policy—namely, to ask the Government to supplement the existing legislation, and give the railway company at least the liberty of action on the rails enjoyed by its competitors on the road. I recently presided over two large meetings of stockholders, and, in my opinion, these meetings were in agreement with this view. We must all fully recognise and know that the grave problem with which the railways are confronted is not confined to the Irish Free State, but is embarrassing the railway authorities practically all over the world. The Association I represent are fully prepared to co-operate with the Board in framing recommendations to put before the Government for the relief of the railway, and the Board can rely on this being done, and the sooner it is done the better. There is urgent need for unity of action amongst the stockholders.

Mr. J. F. Corkeran, Tlarney, said the position might have been very much worse. They were just as well off as the English railways. He thought that an appeal should be made to traders to put their best interests into helping the railway, the future of which he believed could be promoted by suitable legislation.

A COMPLAINT.

Mr. Cullinane, Bantry, speaking on behalf of shareholders from Munster, said that they had been accused of attacking shareholders, but it would be far more cowardly to lie down under the wrongs they were suffering from the management of what was known as the Great Southern Railways.

A Shareholder—We will not lie down.

Mr. Cullinane said that he did not propose to indulge in criticism, but to deal with cold facts. He went on to deal with the service between Clonakilty and Cork, and complained of the lack of heating facilities for passengers at this time of the year: the journey of thirty miles took two hours. Criticising the handling of goods traffic, he mentioned as a case in point that the brewery of which he was one of the proprietors in Clonakilty paid sixteen shillings less per ton for sending porter from Clonakilty by long sea via Glasgow to Belfast than they paid for sending it direct by the Great Southern Railway. The company had successfully driven the butter trade off the railway in West Cork. Their charge was 28s. a ton, plus cartage at each station, whereas a lorry took the same load at 10s. per ton. The milk trade was also driven to the road transport. The price on the railway was raised, and the milk distributors were forced to use lorries. Then the railway company came back, saying that they would carry the milk at the old price, but the distributors refused to accept the offer. That was an instance, he said, of how the West Cork Railway was mismanaged. Owing to the mismanagement of that line a number of prominent business people met in Cork in order to discuss some means of righting these wrongs. He thought that, with the conjunction of the Dublin shareholders with the Cork shareholders, the line would be saved.

Four years ago he had advocated that in order to help them out of the mire a subsidy should be given by the Government. Eight millions had been spent on the Shannon Scheme, a thousand pounds a year was given to the Abbey Theatre, and many hundreds of thousands had been given to the Sugar Beet Factory. Surely that was sufficient precedent for the railways to demand a subsidy. He asked shareholders to support the Dublin and Cork Shareholders' Association in their efforts to save the railway, which was the heart of the country, the driving force of Ireland.

Mr. Rudden (Ballyconnell) asked how the pooling arrangement existing between the Great Northern Railway and the Great Southern Railways affected the latter company; what amount had been paid to the Great Northern Railway Company since the amalgamation of 1924, and what amount had the Great Northern Railway paid in return.

Mr. J. Maguire (Dublin) agreed that the railway company was entitled to compensation or indemnity. Their position had been worsening since the amalgamation, because the company had been handicapped by restriction of traffic regulations, and scandalously treated.

BACK TO REALITIES.

Dr. Lorcan Sherlock asked the meeting to get away from barren controversy and to come down to the consideration of realities if they believed there was any future for the railways. Four years ago at a meeting of the company he put it forward that it was only a question of time, if road competition got a free hand, before the railways would be on the verge of bankruptcy, and the State would have to step in to nationalise the railways and run them at a loss to the taxpayers. The point had been reached when expenditure could not be further reduced, and that brought them to the doors of bankruptcy. If nothing big were done, he could visualise in another ten years not the obsequies of the directors, but the obsequies of the railway company as a going concern, because it would not be possible to make ends meet.

Those charged with responsibility for the Government of the country would now have to face the query—were railways essential for the carrying on of the business of the country?

His suggestion to the meeting was—and he thought it gave hope and courage for the future of the railway and the country—the formation of a responsible body of shareholders from every part of Ireland as a committee to work in conjunction with the railway directors. He wanted the directors and shareholders to come together and have it out between themselves in privacy what was the precise policy they wanted to place before the Government. When that was done, the conference to send a deputation to the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, expressing the matured judgment of representative national opinion from every part of Ireland. He wanted such representation to be representative of public opinion in favour of fair play for the shareholders, but on the basis that such fair play meant fair play to the country. The committee so appointed would be pioneers in organising considered public opinion, to enable the Minister to deal with the situation.

Mr. Greene said that the directors were their servants and not their masters, and they had trusted them for years to do their best in the shareholders' interests. The suggestion made of an association of shareholders to work with the directors was the only way out of the present situation. The new Government had as one of the first planks in its platform the consideration of the economic question, and, in his view, the first should be transport.

CO-OPERATION.

Mr. J. L. Tierney, Cork, said that the grievance he had against the directors, with whom they wished to co-operate, was that the directors had never co-operated with one of a deputation which interviewed President Cosgrave on the railway question and his reply was that at no time whatever had the Government forced any regulations, impositions or conditions on the railway company, and that the directors freely accepted the Government proposals, and approved of them.

At this the Chairman signified his dissent by shaking his head and saying "No, no."

Mr. Tierney, continuing, said that they also saw Mr. de Valera, and his attitude was that, if returned to power, one of his first acts would be to give his very serious attention to the saving of the railways. Furthermore, Mr. de Valera said that he realised that the railways were essential to the country, and he would take every means to safeguard the twenty-seven millions of capital sunk in the railways.

Mr. Tierney went on to complain that proper business methods were not adopted in the management of the railway system. He supported Dr. Sherlock's suggestion.

Mr. J. Lane, ex-T.C., Cork, substantiated the report of the interview with President Cosgrave, but added that President Cosgrave intimated that if a solution of the difficulty could be hammered out it would be carried into effect by the Ministry. The grievance of the shareholders against the directors was that, as the custodians of their property, they had never taken them into their confidence when their property was being confiscated. They had never held an extraordinary meeting of shareholders to consider the interests of shareholders, but had assumed that they themselves were the sole owners and proprietors. The shareholders had a great power, and if the directors had taken steps to place before any Government their interests their property would not have been confiscated in the manner in which it had been. The directors had taken care that there would be no challenge to their administration.

The Chairman—No.

ECONOMY CHALLENGED.

Mr. Lane—You took care that we would have no opportunity. We are here to-day by virtue of our right, and we will assert that right. (Cheers.) It is the only opportunity and the only satisfaction we have. (Laughter.) Continuing, he said that the Chairman had said that the company was worked economically, but he would prove the contrary by asking was it necessary for the company to keep three boards of directors—one for the railway, one for John Wallis and Son, and one for the I.O.C.? What was the necessity for separate directors and separate office staffs? Was it not the fact that one of the directors was drawing also a huge salary as chairman of John Wallis and Sons?

Cries of "Name."

Mr. Lane answered—Mr. Burgess.

A Shareholder—He has a right to leave that platform and go back to his office.

Mr. Lane asked what was the chairman of the I.O.C. getting as his salary? He went on to refer to the fact that the Pensions and Benevolent Fund had increased from £7,000 in 1926 to £121,000 last year, and he contended that officials pensioned could be kept in employment, and in that way save some of their property. The inevitable result of running three separate companies simply meant that they were running in opposition to each other. He mentioned cases where officials canvassed against each other in country towns, and said that the directors had taken no earthly steps to safeguard the interests of the shareholders. The directors had mismanaged the line, and he charged them with being very bad managers and with having ignored completely the power and influence of the shareholders. It was the duty of the shareholders to assist and support, so far as they could, the directors in bringing forward any scheme that would show a reasonable way out, and they had the assurance that the Government were prepared to accept any scheme put up and give it effect, provided it was workable.

DIRECTORS CRITICISED.

Mr. D. O'Connor, Mallow, said the directors had not made a success of the railway, but had made a complete failure of it. Any reasonable suggestion made at previous meetings had not been acted upon. The directors should have taken the people into their confidence. The country, he said, was supreme, and he would like to tell the directors that they were not chosen by the people, but were pitchforked into their positions under special circumstances.

In the event of Dr. Sherlock's suggestion not succeeding he suggested another remedy—that they abolish the Board, and appoint a manager, the same as had been done in local administration in Dublin, Cork, and elsewhere. He agreed that the competition was unfair, and was brought about by unreasonable means; but he asked what had the railway directors done to keep the valuable cattle traffic, the charges for which were 150 per cent. pre-war, thus forcing dealers to avail themselves of other means of transport.

Mr. Walker, Greystones, expressed the opinion that the directors should have adopted a policy for the co-ordination of traffic long before now.

Mr. Paul Ryan, Manchester, said that in his view, considering all the difficulties, the directors deserved congratulation, but what was really wanted to save the railways, so essential to all countries, was a campaign of propaganda.

Colonel O'Callaghan Westropp, County Clare, supported the suggestion of Dr. Lorcan Sherlock, and reminded the shareholders that they should not go battle scrapping with each other and sniping at their General. He warned the meeting that nationalisation was in the air, and that nationalisation had been contemplated, irrespective of the interests of the shareholders.

Mr. Ford, Cork, advocated the formation of a shareholders' association by the meeting to co-operate in fighting their case.

Dr. L. Sherlock intervened to say that if the directors were agreeable his idea was that there should be a joint conference between them and representative shareholders in relation only to presenting to the Government their case on the question of road competition and fair play. After that it was up to them to organise Ireland behind their demands, and in their efforts to organise public opinion they would expect sufficient facilities from the directors.

Mr. Eoin O'Mahoney, Cork, asked had compensation been applied for in connection with the cancellation of trains on the 21st June last, and also when notice of cancellation of the trains that day had been received.

Mr. W. A. Higginbotham, Dublin, said that it was not judicious to change horses in the middle of the stream, but it might be of advantage to give them the whip. (Laughter.)

CHAIRMAN'S REPLY.

The Chairman, replying, said that in regard to the trains cancelled by order of the Government on 21st June last, compensation had been applied for, but had not been granted. The notice of cancellation had been received at 11 o'clock on the night of June 20th.

He was very much impressed by the fact that shareholders who were highly critical of the directors all came forward with suggestions. The most valuable suggestion he had heard since he was elected chairman of the board was that from Dr. Sherlock. It was the most sensible and constructive proposal he had heard, and he hoped that Dr. Sherlock, in the next few days, would come and meet the directors, and they would try and work out a scheme on the lines suggested.

The directors, he said, had done everything in their power, and had enlisted the support of the Department of Agriculture and other Government Departments to facilitate the transport of agricultural produce, and they would be only too happy to give support to any suggestions that would help in that direction.

There was no political issue, he said, in the matter of the railways. It concerned the plain business man and the country, and if the railways were going to survive they should do what they were doing in England. The directors had gone on to the roads, contrary to Act of Parliament, and, in doing that, had acted in the interests of the shareholders, as they were continuing and would continue to act.

The report was carried unanimously.

The following directors were re-elected:—C. D. Evans, Major H. A. Henry, A. Jackson, D.L.; Right Hon. J. MacMahon, and Dr. W. Lombard Murphy.

Sir Stanley Harrington was re-elected auditor.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Chairman on the motion of Mr. Corkeran, and the meeting terminated.

Teachers' Salaries "Cut."—At a specially convened meeting of the Loughrea Branch of the Irish National Teachers' Organisation, a resolution was adopted unanimously, declaring that the special conference being representative of only a section of the teachers of Ireland, had no power to accept the Government's proposals, and repudiating its decision, and calling upon the Central Executive Committee to set up the necessary machinery for an immediate referendum of the teachers of the Free State to consider the matter, so that the matured views of the teachers might be ascertained. The delegates from the branch to the annual Congress were instructed to vote against any formal "cut," and asked not to support at the forthcoming elections to the Central Executive Committee any candidate whom they knew to favour a reduction, however small, on the present salary rate.

BACON BY POUND PREFERRED.

EXTRAVAGANCE OF FARMERS' WIVES.

REASON FOR DECLINE OF HOME CURING.

THE extravagance of the modern girl was said to be the reason why the Irish farmer of to-day did not kill pigs for use in his home. When the hearing was resumed yesterday by the Free State Tariff Commission of the application for a tariff on bacon, hams, and other pig products, Mr. O Frighil, chairman, presided.

Col. O'Callaghan-Westropp, O'Callaghan's Mills, Co. Clare, giving evidence as a neutral witness, was asked why the farmers had dropped the more economical practice of killing and curing their own pigs. He replied that the East Clare farmers believed that the modern girl was not as good a housekeeper as her mother. She was more extravagant, and if she had a side of bacon hanging up in the kitchen she would "lash it out." The modern farmer found that the fact that the bacon had to be bought by the pound in the shop checked this tendency, and was consequently more economical in the long run.

Continuing, the witness said that he spoke as a neutral witness, in that he agreed with the farmers in his neighbourhood that, if a tariff was necessary for the well-being of the industry, it should be imposed, but they held that if that was done every precaution should be taken to see that there was no "profiteering," and that a Food Prices Control Board should be established immediately the tariff was imposed. The farmers did not allege that there was "profiteering" at the moment, but many suspected that there was. These suspicions they based on the falling prices.

PROFIT TO MIDDLEMEN.

The farmers received last year from the factory for suitable pigs 56s. per cwt. dead-weight, and the price of that across the counter was 126s. per cwt. The farmers believed that the cost of the bacon from the factory gate at which the pig was bought to the counter over which it was sold—that is, the manufacturing and distributive costs—was 20s. per cwt., and they thought that the margin of profit between 76s. and 126s. was too high.

He instanced that, in June and July last year, best Limerick smoked bacon was selling in Ennis at 1s. 1½d. per lb., and he was able to purchase bacon of as good a quality from a factory in the West of England at ninepence a pound. In the farmers' opinion, there were toon many "middlemen" and too many rings in the bacon trade.

Replying to Professor Smiddy, the Colonel said that a price of at least 60s. per cwt. dead weight was necessary to encourage the farmer to continue in pig production.

INCREASED CONSUMPTION.

Mr. T. McCloskey, Cashel, Co. Tipperary, said that there has been a very considerable increase in the consumption of bacon in the Irish Free State and Great Britain. The increase in Great Britain last year was nearly two million cwts., and in the Free State the increase was about 15 per cent.

Dealing with prices, Mr. McCloskey said that they had been falling since May last, but a great fillip had been given to the industry by the emergency tariff. A panic in prices was caused in the first two weeks in January. That was due to the fact that bacon supplies at home were short when the tariff was imposed and the foreign supplies were cut off. It gave, however, a great impetus to pig breeding, and many people purchased extra breeding sows.

PROHIBITION PREFERRED.

There was, he declared, no necessity for the Free State to import foreign bacon. He was more in favour of total prohibition than of a mere tariff. He was of opinion that there was no danger of the bacon trade at home being affected by Great Britain or Northern Ireland. There was no bacon coming from Great Britain, and he would put little or no value on bacon coming from Northern Ireland.

Replying to the Chairman, the witness said that he did not think that a tariff would result in a greater production of pigs at least for two years.

J. M. Clarke, Upper Rathmines, Dublin, said that the present price for pigs, dead-weight, would only pay for the meal for feeding them.

The Commission then adjourned until Tuesday next at 11 o'clock.

LAST OF HERMIONE LECTURES.

SCOTS PAINTERS WHO SET A FASHION.

Art developments in Scotland since 1850 were described yesterday by Mr. Stanley Cursitor, O.B.E., Director of the National Gallery of Scotland, in the last of his Hermione Lectures at Alexandra College, Dublin. In his series of four lectures he has thus dealt with "Painting in Scotland" from its beginnings until the present day. Dr. T. Bodkin, Director of the National Gallery of Ireland, presided.

Mr. Cursitor opened with a description of the group of men—mostly born in the 1830's and attaining prominence in the 60's—who settled in London and became known as the "London Scottish." Most of them, he said, were pupils of Robert Scott Lauder at the Trustees' Academy.

The backbone of the group consisted of John Pettie, Sir William Quiller Orchardson, Thomas Graham, Peter Graham and John McWhirter, of whom all, except Thomas Graham, became Academicians.

Orchardson got a very just balance between realism and convention. To illustrate this quality, the lecturer showed his well-known "Napoleon on Board the Bellerophon," remarking that the ship was just such a ship as one would expect to find in a story about Peter Pan, yet it served perfectly to show up the figures on board.

Mr. Cursitor drew attention to his method of balancing his pictures by putting light on one side of the picture and tone on the other, and then introducing dark objects into the light half and light objects into the dark half.

MAGAZINE ILLUSTRATIONS.

This, he remarked, was the system which was followed generally by magazine illustrators to-day—the heroine, in a light dress, sitting on a dark cushion at one side, and at the other, the strong, silent man, with a square jaw, standing dark against the light of a window.

Turning to the other painters of the time who remained in Edinburgh instead of migrating to London, he said that the most distinguished landscape painter they had had was William McTaggart. His early pictures had a slight connection with the pre-Raphaelites, but he developed an impressionistic style parallel to the movement in France. Contrasting McTaggart's impressionism with that of the French, the lecturer said that, with them, the sub-division of colours was a little self-conscious, but McTaggart did it all quite naturally. He simply swept up the colours and laid them on.

"McTaggart's importance," he added, "is coming to be recognised in all of the impressionist movement. The whole of modern painting is based on the impressionists, and McTaggart, of course, is their god."

Going on to speak of the Glasgow school, the lecturer explained that they were a group of men mostly born in the 1860's who emerged in the 1880's. Probably the most distinguished of the group was Sir James Guthrie, who was an extraordinary man, in the fact that he never had any training, either at an art school, a night class, or anything of that sort.

With regard to Alexander Roche, who was born in Glasgow of French-Irish extraction, he observed that no other artist of this group could convey so sympathetically the quality of flesh, the wet eye, and the moist lip.

Dr. Bodkin, in thanking the lecturer, recalled that Mr. Cursitor himself exhibited at the Royal Hibernian Academy in 1913 and 1915, and added that he had promised to send in work for this year's exhibition.

THE LESSONS O HISTORY.

AID OF EXPERIENCE IN POLITICS.

IN the Graduates' Memorial Buildi Trinity College, Dublin, yesterd afternoon, Professor Alison Phillips d livered the last of his series of four lectur introductory to the study of modern histo and dealt with the main intellectual, so and political forces of the nineteenth centu which shaped the destinies of the Europe nations.

After pointing out how the spirit nationality had been awakened as a result the revolutionary and Napoleonic wars, went on to comment on the territorial sett ment effected by the Congress of Vienna 1815, after the fall of Napoleon. This sett ment, he said, had been blamed for tak no account of national sentiment.

National sentiment at that time, howe though astir, had not assumed any defin substance, and it would have been imposs to have re-arranged the boundaries of Eur on national lines. The territorial settlem based on the old principle of the balanc power, at least preserved Europe from w between the Powers for nigh on hal century.

The lecturer proceeded to analyse t tendencies of thought which went to f public opinion at the time, representing one way or another a reaction against t principles of the Revolution—Romanticis with its appeal to the authority of the pa whether in politics or religion; philosoph Radicalism with its conception of " greatest happiness of the greatest numbe as the object of government; and the b ginnings of Socialism, strengthened by t developments of the industrial revolution.

Romanticism powerfully contributed to t growth of the sentiment of nationali Radicalism inspired the demand for consti tional liberties; Socialism gave expressio the justifiable discontents of the work classes under the new conditions. All th forces, suppressed under the system "stability," of which Metternich was pillar, broke out in the revolutionary mo ments by which all Europe was convuls the years 1848 and 1849.

These revolutions failed, said the lectur because of the rivalry of nationalities, reactionary Powers being able to play one nationality against another.

NEW ERA OF WARS.

The year 1851, which saw the final c of these movements, saw also the opening the great international exhibition in Lo which was hailed as marking the opening a new era of peace. Instead, there wa new era of wars. It was also, unlike period that had immediately preceded it, age of outstanding personalities: Napo III., Bismarck, and Cavour.

From the moment when, in Septem 1862, King William I. of Prussia entru the conduct of Prussian policy to Bism the balance of power began to swing f France in the direction of Germany, and 1871 Germany was supreme on the Conti Bismarck, said Mr. Phillips, would have content with these gains. There were, ever, powerful influences in Germany, not that of the late Professor Treitschke his pupils, which urged that it was destiny of Germany to succeed to the wo empire which was falling from the nerve hands of an England corrupted by democ

The lecturer agreed with French opin that, had England secured the balance power by leaving no doubt as to her intention to support France in case of atta the Great War might, possibly, have b avoided. It would, however, he said, p bably, only have been postponed, since ultimate causes were the conflicting id and interests of nations which could only adjusted as the outcome of war.

The League of Nations had substitute "community of power" for the balance power, and it remained to be seen how f would be able to preserve peace.

The British Commonwealth of Nati said the lecturer, has been the most effec organisation for the maintenance of p since the fall of the Roman Empire. In association, he said, it is democracy governs, and democracy is sensitive to p opinion, which is made up of the opin of each one of us. He, therefore, urged hearers not to be led away by phrases phrase-makers, or, like the Robespierre this world, to imagine that there exists universal panacea for the distempers of all kind. The only safe guide in politics, he is experience; and, if we have no experi ourselves, we must keep silence and trust who have. We, too, he concluded, can d upon that vast, accumulated mass of hu experience which is history.

IRISH ARTS AND CRAFTS.

ARTISTIC EXCELLENCE OF STAINED GLASS.

A lecture on "Irish Arts and Crafts" was delivered to a large audience in the Members' Hall of the Royal Dublin Society by Mr. George Atkinson, R.H.A., last night.

Dealing with the crafts that are essentially individualistic, he said that there was nothing sacrosanct about traditional art: the principle that designer and executant must be one and the same individual was not inviolable. The modern copying and adaptation of the ancient examples of illumination had been responsible for more bad work than any other form of traditional ornament—a result that almost justified the remark made by a critic that it would have been a blessing for Irish art if the Book of Kells had not escaped destruction in 1916.

Under the heading of crafts that are co-operative or collectivist, Mr. Atkinson said that lace, although originally an imported industry, assumed special characteristics, and had come to be regarded as peculiarly Irish.

Furniture he classified into the period of oak, the period of walnut, the period of mahogany and the period of satinwood, and said that there was very little furniture made in Ireland that was not derived from those traditional types.

He thought that it might be fairly said that no craft in Ireland had attained such artistic excellence as that of stained glass, and that there was no exaggeration in saying that modern Irish stained glass was as fine as any produced in the world to-day.

SPECIAL NEWSPAPER TRAIN.

DUBLIN JOURNAL'S APPLICATION TO TRIBUNAL.

Judge O'Brien, presiding yesterday at the Railway Tribunal, Dublin Castle, heard an application on behalf of the Irish Press, Ltd., for an adjournment of the matter before the Tribunal, in which they are applicants, and in which the Great Southern Railways Company, Independent Newspapers, Ltd., and the Irish Times, Ltd., are respondents.

The matter at issue concerns the carrying of the Irish Press on a special train chartered by the Irish Times and the Irish Independent before the Irish Press began publication.

After hearing counsel for the parties, Judge O'Brien fixed the date of hearing as March 18th, at the Four Courts.

NAAS TO-DAY.

HEARTBREAK HILL TO HAVE ANOTHER OUTING.

Train—Kingsbridge, 2.0.

THE opening meeting of the season at Naas holds out every promise of being a successful affair. The fact that Heartbreak Hill will be a runner for the Osberstown Steeplechase is in itself a big attraction, and visitors will be afforded an opportunity of seeing Mrs. C. S. Bird's good mare have her final gallop on a racecourse prior to crossing over to Liverpool to take her chance in the Grand National. Only four others will turn out in opposition to the Grand National candidate, who, despite her big impost of 12st. 7lb., should repeat her recent Leopardstown success.

Tote Double on Fourth and Sixth Races.

There are many other interesting races in the programme also, including the valuable Maiden Steeplechase, for which there will be a field of fifteen runners. Drintown, who won a similar class of race at Leopardstown but was beaten by Royal Ransom at Baldoyle, has strong claims to consideration, and such as Royal Ambassador, Coolavach, Nice Token and Anakim will likely come into the reckoning. Drintown may be the best to stand on.

Our Bird, Sunny Side Up and Lisburn look to be the pick of those in the Robertstown Hurdle Race, and the first-named, if caught in the right mood, should about win.

Land o' Burns, who won a mile flat race at Derby last November; Gallant Prince, Cap a Pie II. and Prince Pat form a group from which the winner of the Maiden Hurdle Race may come. Gold Cygnet, who was narrowly beaten by Tuborg at the Leopardstown December meeting, may go one better and win the Jigginstown Hurdle Race; and Grecian Vase must hold a big chance of winning the Halverstown Plate. Selections:—

Robertstown Hurdle—Our Bird.
Kildare Maiden Hurdle—Gallant Prince.
Jigginstown Hurdle—Gold Cygnet.
Naas Maiden Steeplechase—Drintown.
Osberstown Steeplechase—Heartbreak Hill.
Halverstown Plate—Grecian Vase.

A MINOR "NATIONAL."

FIVE AINTREE CANDIDATES TO MEET TO-DAY.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.
HURST PARK, Friday.

CAPTAIN BROWNHILL has had to take his horse, Drintyre, out of the Grand National, and Oxclose, following his poor display at Cheltenham, where he was found lame when he was pulled up, has also gone out. Drintyre's exhibition last Saturday at Kempton was too bad to be true, and I have reason to believe that the horse was suffering from something which his trainer had not guessed at before the race. He has been a sick horse ever since.

SWERVERS.

This was about as bad a day's racing as I have seen this season. It would be hard to conceive of a worse race than that for the Burlington Hurdle. The four runners, headed by Silver Mount, with Jugo bringing up the rear, went so slowly past the stands that the crowd jeered at them. Silver Mount had just lost the lead coming to the last hurdle, which Sterling Maid jumped in front. She immediately swerved over to the far rails; then Silver Mount swerved, and Quarter Sessions took a hand in the game when his jockey picked his whip up. He put in the best swerve of all, for he came right across Silver Mount a hundred yards from home. In the meantime Sterling Maiden had been got going again, and held on to win a head and a short head from Quarter Sessions and Silver Mount.

SELECTIONS.

The only race before Liverpool which will attract a number of good National candidates is the Hurst Park Trial Handicap Steeplechase here to-morrow, for which Shaun Goilin, Alike, Annandale, Aruntius and Great Span run. ANNANDALE did so well last time out that he may win here.

The Piccadilly Hurdle should be won by FREE FARE, whom Gwilt bought at the late Mr. Albert Lowry's sale for 50 guineas, and sold recently for £1,500. The Garrett Moore Steeplechase should be won by THE TORCH, or, in his absence, by GOLSONCOTT.

GALTEE MORE.

SANSTROME'S CHANCE STRONGLY FANCIED.

IT is very unfortunate that the Hurst Park Trial Steeplechase, which is to be run to-day, should have cut up so badly. No more than seven runners are expected to go to the post, and they are certainly not the pick of the handicap. Top weight will apparently be carried by that consistent mare Alike, who hardly knows how to run a poor race and whose form is such that she will probably be one of the favourites. Her last effort was a third to the Black Fellow and Vinicole.

On that occasion Sanstrome was leading his field when he fell, and I feel sure he is going to play a very prominent part in to-day's race. Shaun Goilin is to take his chance, but he is much slower these days and requires, I think, to be dropped in the handicaps before he is likely to win. One with a very bright chance is Annandale, who ran with distinct credit against Remus at Kempton Park last week. Aruntius will go close, but I cannot get away from the chance which possesses, and I expect Beeby's horse to win.

At Catterick Bridge a fairly large field will contest the Piercebridge Handicap Hurdle, and the winner may prove difficult to find. Although he has plenty of weight probably will prove the best betting medium, for he is quite a useful hurdler.

COURSING.

PUPPY WINS STAKE WITH BANDAGED FOOT.

Desk, a puppy belonging to Mrs. Dennis, put up a remarkable performance when winning the Barbican Cup at the South of England meeting yesterday. In the first course of the Cup he had cut one of his feet practically to the bone, and the rest of the courses he ran with a bandage round his foot; yet so well did he run that he was a very easy winner.

In the fifth round he nipped in and brought off a grand kill at the expense of Winalittle, and in the decider he picked up the hare in his stride before his opponent, Sehaia, could get a single point. Sehaia had been already a lucky winner of his previous course, as his opponent, Johnny Peters, struck to kill, but missed and got a mouthful of dirt. The remarkable thing about the incident was that the hare jumped in the air and actually went right over Johnny Peters.

WORK AT THE CURRAGH.

THE CURRAGH, Friday.

The morning was brilliantly fine, but a very severe frost overnight, with the already hard state of the ground, interfered with the progress of training operations and the teams were restricted to ordinary healthy exercise.

BEHAN'S May Turn galloped six furlongs at a fast pace. Knight of the Mist, Rathlin Isle, Roll Up, Call Him, Gilnakirk, Gold Amulet, Luck Gift, Sea Mark and others had brisk bouts of healthy exercise.

BRABAZON'S team was similarly engaged.

COLLINS' Jorto, Old River Bridge, Trapper and the two-year-olds cantered in the home paddocks.

DAWSON'S Tony Boy, Hold On and Mountona cantered briskly six furlongs.

DOYLE'S Reilly went six furlongs sharply. Others of the Rossmore Lodge team cantered five furlongs.

FETHERSTONHAUGH'S Prince Pat, Bill and Rustic Beauty traversed the same distance.

HARTIGAN'S High Warrendale, Gold Cygnet, Limousine, Chimney Top and others of the Ruanbeg team cantered.

PARKINSON'S Cairn Lassie and Moyle Lassie came five furlongs sharply.

Left for owner's place at Carlow—Lista, Zadare and brown colt (2 yrs.) by Jackdaw out of Kathleen Mavourneen.

GAELIC GAMES.

MAYO'S CHALLENGE TO KERRY.

Mayo extended Kerry at Tuam in last year's championship, and should they bring a full team to Tralee to-morrow they will run the champions close in the National Football League match—the first of the inter-group series. Carlow and Westmeath offer a good game at Carlow, where the home county may win, and it is likely that the League may yet see a close finish with Kerry and Meath figuring in the final.

The Dublin championship is growing in interest, and the most important of to-morrow's games is the clash of the old rivals—Kickhams and Geraldines.

TO-MORROW'S FIXTURES.

Tralee—Kerry v. Mayo (N.F. League). 3.0.
Carlow—Carlow v. Westmeath (N.F. League). 3.0.
Parnell Park. Dublin Championships—O'Tooles v. Westerns; Kickhams v. Geraldines.
Chapelizod—Young Irelands v. Eoghan Rhuas (League); Guards v. Army.

BOOKMAKERS OPERATE AT CELTIC PARK.

There was no trouble at Celtic Park, Belfast, last night when bookmakers attended the greyhound racing meeting, and took up a position on the rails. The stewards went to each bookmaker in turn and ordered him to leave the grounds or desist from betting, but no notice was taken of the order.

In a statement the management said they were determined to be "masters in their own house, and that action would be taken against the offending parties."

The results were:—Tommy Barclay (tote win 3/-), Lady Maureen (10/3), Impy (8/-), Matt Rock (5/-), Bell Guard (12/6), Thurfreda (5/9), The Ace (10/-).

CORK RESULTS.

Lady Dainty (2/1), McCormack (2/1), Brown Fern (2/1), Lisnagourney Rover (3/1), Delage Breac (6/4), Seaman (evens).

ROWING.

THE HILARY TERM FINALS.

SMOOTH DISPLAY BY THE TRINITY EIGHT.

FOR the concluding stage of the Hilary Term races at Island Bridge yesterday the conditions were again almost ideal. The programme was strengthened by the addition of a race between the Putney Eight and a Lady Elizabeth crew, stroked by H. Watson, in which D. M. MacGillicuddy's crew were seen to distinct advantage.

On the way to the start they were very well together, being obviously a much more finished and more powerful lot, and in the race they confirmed the opinion. As a matter of fact, they romped home winners by three lengths, a margin that would, perhaps, have been increased had they been pressed to it.

The men in MacGillicuddy's boat are an excellent crew, but owing to illness of a couple, training was interrupted for about a fortnight, and they may not be at their best in the Head of the River Race at Putney on March 19. Another circumstance that may militate against Trinity's chances in the big race is that they will have to borrow a boat, and be content with what is left when the requirements of the numerous other crews have been met. Three days before the Putney race they will row against a London University eight.

The best race of the evening was the final for the Millar Cups (fours), which was instituted in 1872, for which D. M. MacGillycuddy's and H. Watson's crews qualified. The boats got away on pretty level terms, but MacGillicuddy at once took a slight lead, and spurting strongly, had increased it at the minute mark. There Watson improved his position somewhat, but his rival drew away again. It was a ding-dong struggle the whole way, and at the enclosure Watson was within three-quarters of a length of the other boat, but MacGillicuddy's crew put in the more resolute finish to win by a length and a quarter.

E Crew (stroked by S. S. Friel) and B Crew (stroked by T. O'Loughlin) also provided a rousing finish. O'Loughlin's crew led practically the whole way down, but in the final spurt Friel's crew gradually forged past, and, rowing strongly, they won by about half a canvas.

BADMINTON.

THE ALL-ENGLAND TOURNAMENT.

THE WOMEN'S DOUBLES HOLDERS BEATEN.

IN the All-England Championships yesterday the brothers Hamilton were defeated by another family partnership, R. C. F. and L. Nichols, by 15-7, 15-12, in the semi-finals of the men's doubles. The Hamiltons, however, did not have the best of luck; for Willoughby had the misfortune to strain an ankle, and for the greater part of the match he was suffering from a handicap which had a lot to do with his side's defeat. It must be said that the Nichols played well. Their combination was faultless, and they played shots which were of real championship class.

After five-all in the first game, the Nichols reached 9-5, and it was at this stage that Willoughby Hamilton injured his foot, and, despite requests by the London pair for the Irishman to rest, the game was only delayed for a few seconds. The Nichols were 11-5, and eventually they ran out winners of the game at 15-7.

Willoughby Hamilton revealed splendid form in the second game. He retrieved shot after shot, and his side led at 9-5, but the Nichols were persistent in their attacks, and the game was level at 10-all. The Nichols got to 13-10, and, though the Hamiltons checked their progress for a time, the end was in sight, and the Irishmen lost the game at 15-12, and with it the match.

Mrs. F. C. Barrett, who was joint holder with Miss V. Elton from 1928 to 1930 inclusive, and Miss L. M. Kingsbury defeated the ladies' doubles holders, Mrs. R. J. Horsley and Mrs. H. S. Uber, in the semi-final. The winners will meet Mrs. D. Myers and Miss B. E. Speaight in the final to-day. The score in favour of Mrs. Barrett and Miss Kingsbury was 17-14, 18-17.

ENGLAND BEAT SCOTLAND.

England maintained an unbeaten record in the international series, when her representatives beat Scotland at Westminster yesterday by nine matches to love. England has yet to be beaten in these matches by either Scotland or Ireland, and Scotland has suffered defeat twelve times at the hands of England.

BEAUMONT B.C.

A general meeting will be held at the Hall, Beaver row, on Monday next at 9 o'clock.

BOXING.

R.U.R. OFFICER WINS TITLE.

At the Army and Territorial Championships at the Royal Albert Hall, London, yesterday, Lieut. G. Going, 2nd Royal Ulster Rifles, won the light-heavy weight title, beating Second Lieut. J. D. Harbord (8th Hussars) on points in the final.

CAMOGUIDHEACHT.

THE COLLEGES' FINALS AT CROKE PARK.

To-day, at Croke Park, the final of the Brigidine Convents' contest between Tullow and Mountrath will be played. The teams accounted for Abbeyleix and Goresbridge, respectively, in the first round, both matches being won by narrow margins, and to-day's winners will become possessors of the trophy.

After this game the Dublin Senior Championship will be decided, when St. Finbars (holders) meet San Catharina for the O'Duffy Cup. The former team has already won the Senior League and Elvery Cup, and San Catharina on Monday last disposed of the much-fancied Dominican College (Eccles street) in surprising fashion, and will make a bold bid for honours. The full programme is:—

Brigidine Convents' Final—Tullow v. Mountrath, 2.15 (Miss M. Gill).

Senior Championship (O'Duffy Cup) Final—St. Finbars (holders) v. San Catharina, 3.15 (Mr. Sean O'Duffy).

Trophies will be presented to the winning teams after the games, and afterwards the victors will be entertained to tea at Jury's Hotel.

WEEK END SPORT.

IMPORTANT RUGBY, HOCKEY AND ASSOCIATION CUP TIES.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

SENIOR CUP MATCHES AT LANSDOWNE ROAD.

THE near approach of the close of the season is made evident from the fact that two first round ties in the Leinster Senior Cup are set for decision this afternoon. The match between Wanderers and Dublin University might easily turn out to be one of the best in the competition, as on the occasions the clubs met previously the games were extremely close. Wanderers for to-day's game will field about their best side, and their form during the season points to their winning.

Monkstown take the field against Clontarf. The latter club have been showing improved form of late, their best effort being a win over Dublin University, and the balance of form points to their defeating Monkstown.

Two Ulster Senior Cup ties will be played at Belfast, and four Metropolitan Cup matches and two Provincial Towns' Cup matches also figure in the Leinster programme.

CAN BOHEMIANS TURN THE TABLES?

ALTHOUGH Shamrock Rovers beat Bohemians with two goals to spare in the decisive League game last Saturday, the result is very open when the two meet again to-day in the first semi-final of the Free State Cup at Crumlin. Bohemians will have the services of White at centre-forward, and his presence will make a great difference to the attack, while Doherty, the left-half, will play inside-right, with Cullen and Ellis on the wings. This looks a far stronger line than that which did duty last Saturday; for Doherty has played inside-right with success before, while White inspires a drive in the whole attack which is lacking in his absence. The halves and defence are the same as usual.

Shamrock Rovers make one change, Glen resuming at right-half, thus allowing Flood to return to the attack. Byrne, however, plays outside-right, and Moore moves into the centre. Whether this change will be adhered to on the field of play remains to be seen; for Byrne is extraordinarily effective in the centre against Bohemians. Rovers have the more dangerous attack and the more constructive halves, but their defence may be shaken by the amateurs' quick raids. White is a regular terrier near goal, and will cause Matthews a lot of trouble, while Horlacher and Cullen will form a good left wing. Bohemians have a defence that takes a good deal of beating, and Rovers' forwards will have to be at their best to score. It is likely to be a hard, rather than a clever match, and may possibly end in a draw. Alternatively, my vote goes to Rovers.

The other five matches which take place to-morrow continue the Shield programme. By far the most interesting will be that between Shelbourne and Dolphin at Dalymount, as these teams are to meet in the second Cup semi-final.

CORINTHIANS TO VISIT BOHEMIANS.

This season the Corinthians are visiting Ireland at Easter, when their tour will comprise the following three games:—

Saturday, March 26 (v. Derry City, at Londonderry).

Monday, March 28 (v. Bohemians, at Dublin).

Wednesday, March 30 (v. Linfield, at Belfast).

ARSENAL SIGN COLEMAN.

Negotiations between Mr. Herbert Chapman, manager of Arsenal F.C., and representatives of Grimsby Town F.C. yesterday resulted in terms being arrived at for the transfer of Coleman, the Grimsby Town centre-forward, to the London club. Seddon, the Arsenal half-back, was mentioned as a likely exchange. Coleman will appear for Arsenal to-day in the League match against Leicester City at Highbury.

NEW GLENAVON GOALKEEPER.

Joseph Dunseath, who arrived in this country recently from South Africa, has signed on as an amateur goalkeeper for Glenavon (Lurgan) Football Club. He played in the Transvaal Senior League, and intends residing at Limavady.

HOCKEY.

SEMI-FINALS OF THE MILLS CUP.

The semi-finals of the Mills Cup take the principal place in to-day's programme, and everything seems to point to a final between those keen rivals, Railway Union and Dublin University. The latter's defence should prove too strong for Pembroke Wanderers' moderate forward line, which has not been improved by experimental changes; while the lively Trinity attack is fairly certain to get through once or twice. Railway, although without K. Browner, would appear to be too sound in every department for Three Rock Rovers. The latter's forwards, backed up by one of the best club half-back lines in the country, may prove dangerous, but their defence looks hardly strong enough.

WOMEN'S HOCKEY.

IRELAND'S SECOND TEST AT BELFAST.

After their surprising collapse against Wales last Saturday, the Irish women can hardly be fancied to beat a useful-looking Scottish team at Bladon Drive, Belfast, this afternoon. Four changes have been made, and Ireland will, probably, give a vastly different display to the Colwyn Bay collapse, but I doubt if the forwards will make much impression on a sound Scottish defence. Teams:—

Ireland—Misses Hannon (Munster); Daly (Munster), Corkey (Ulster); Thackaberry (Leinster), Burkitt (Ulster), Brant (Connaught); McKay (Leinster), Moore (Leinster), Mrs. Towers (Ulster), Mrs. Blake (Shropshire), Miss Nowlan (Notts). Reserves—Misses Coulson (Leinster) and Widger (Munster).

Scotland—Mrs. Cleland (East), Misses A. Butters (West), J. R. Caird (East), M. J. M. Cooper (East), O. Andrews (Midland), M. Langmuir (West), S. Fraser (North), M. Campbell (East), E. W. Heriot (East), Mrs. Sinclair (Midland), and Miss A. N. Morison (East).

STRUCK BY A 'BUS.

£375 FOR MEATH FARMER.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HANNA.)

An application was made on behalf of Thomas Kealy, a farmer, of Grangegeeth, Slane, Co. Meath, to have received and made a rule of Court a consent to settle an action brought by him against the Great Northern Railway (Ireland) Company for damages for personal injuries.

It appeared that Mr. Kealy was crossing a street in Drogheda when he was struck by a 'bus, the property of the railway company. The consent provided for the payment to Mr. Kealy of £375 and £50 for costs.

Mr. Justice Hanna received the consent and made it a rule of Court.

Mr. Nugent (instructed by Mr. Patrick Tallon) appeared for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Hoey and Denning, solicitors, were for the defendants.

RECEIVING CHARGE.

(BEFORE MR. O'SULLIVAN.)

Annie Flood, 90d Corporation Buildings, Dublin, was charged on remand with feloniously receiving from a young man, William Nolan, alias James O'Brien, a quantity of jewellery and clothing to the total value of £27.

The defendant was remanded in custody until Tuesday.

CYCLIST AND PILLION RIDER INJURED.

SETTLEMENT OF DUBLIN ACTIONS.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HANNA.)

Consents to settlement were received and made rules of court in two actions against Robert O'Donnell, 14 Armstrong street, Harold's Cross, Dublin, an omnibus proprietor, for damages for personal injuries.

The plaintiffs were Bernard Kelly, a wireman employed by the Dublin United Tramways Co., of 21 Tramway terrace, Highfield road, Dartry road, Dublin, and Andrew Stynes, an electrical fitter employed by the same company, of 8 Tramway terrace, Highfield road.

From the statements of claim, it appeared that on the afternoon of the 30th of last August Mr. Kelly was riding a motor bicycle, with Mr. Stynes sitting on the pillion, along Cathal Brugha street, in the direction of Gloucester street, when a 'bus, the property of Mr. O'Donnell, was driven against the bicycle at the junction of Marlborough street and Gloucester street. Mr. Kelly suffered from fracture of both bones of the left leg, and Mr. Stynes also from similar injuries, in addition to having his shin bone broken.

The consent provided for the payment of £325 and £75 costs to Mr. Kelly, and £375 and £75 to Mr. Stynes.

Mr. J. R. Coghlan (instructed by Messrs. Kennedy and McGonagle) appeared for the plaintiffs; and Messrs. Hoey and Denning were the solicitors for the defendant.

STATISTICAL SOCIETY MEETING.

The discussion on a paper entitled "Separate Markets for Unemployed," recently read by Mr. Justice Meredith to members of the Statistical and Social Inquiry Society of Ireland, was resumed last night at their meeting in the Royal Irish Academy, Dawson street. The President of the Society, Mr. J. C. M. Eason, was in the chair.

The Rev. T. Ryan, S.J., declared that he did not find himself in agreement with the policy advanced in Mr. Justice Meredith's paper. He (the speaker) would rather something more in the nature of a solution of the unemployment problem was put forward rather than a palliative. Relief work had been condemned because it was not productive, and in like manner the scheme put forward by Mr. Justice Meredith was one that would have to be in operation until, as he said, better times came and the problem was solved. In conclusion, Father Ryan referred to the result brought about by the misuse of the surplus in the labour market. A host of people were being under-paid as a result of the glut of labour.

Professor Johnston, T.C.D., declared that, in his opinion, unemployment could be cured by a method of currency inflation. He further maintained that, if there was a little more unemployment in the retail trade, there might be a great deal less in the other trades.

The Chairman, Mr. J. C. M. Eason, said that unemployment as a problem was a maladjustment which had always existed, and which, in his opinion, arose out of the defects of human nature.

A Banned Book.—A prosecution under the Censorship of Publications Act came before District Justice McCabe at Waterford yesterday, when the Waterford branch of Messrs. Woolworth's Stores, Ltd., was fined £25 for exposing for sale a cheap edition of the book entitled "W.A.A.C.'s," issued by Messrs. Geo. Newnes, Ltd., London. It was proved that the Newnes edition was identical in text with the original edition by Messrs. Werner Laurie, and that the book and all its editions were prohibited for sale or circulation in the Free State. The Justice said that he believed that Messrs. Woolworths did not put the book into circulation with the object of doing harm to public morals, but it showed great dereliction of duty on their part that they should have the book there for sale at all.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

TONE AND COMMENT.

DUBLIN UNCERTAIN.

GUINNESS EASIER.

Although Dublin Stock market was fairly busy yesterday and the tone still good, there were here and there signs of hesitancy. This was especially noticeable in the Industrial section, where some of the most active counters were easier.

Funds were quite firm, Second Loan rising three-quarters to 103½ and Land Bonds up to 96⅜. War Loan Fives continued to appreciate.

Dublin New Fives were raised to 101¼.

Banks were quite steady, with small mixed changes.

Rails were much firmer, with Great Southern Debs. prominent with a rise of 1⅞ to 47½.

The Guinness market was quiet, and the Units closed sixpence lower at 84s. 6d. Distillers Company (Scottish) rose sharply.

In the Industrial section, Textiles made a mixed showing. Coats and Cottons improved, but Bleachers lost a little ground. Courtaulds fell a shilling to 36s. B.A.T. rose 1s. 6d., and Imperial Tobacco was unaltered. Dunlops and Chemicals were dull spots; but, Unilevers, after a strong opening, fell away sharply, and closed a few pence up. Shells also shed 2s. 6d. of the recent rise.

In local securities, there was more doing. Dublin Trams repeated 75s. and Burke Debs. 7⅝. Goulding Ord. rose sixpence to 68s. and Metropole Hotels 3s. to 13s. Millar and Beatty Pref. came to business at 58s., and Thom Ord. repeated 25s. 6d. Yam Seng Rubber fell to 11d.

The "bid" prices for Cables and Wireless were lower than the last business done.

LONDON SLOWING DOWN.

BRITISH FUNDS AGAIN STRONG.

Following the recent sharp advance in values the London Stock Markets presented an irregular front yesterday, while trading was on somewhat smaller lines. There were, however, again a number of outstanding features of strength, British Funds providing one of the best sections of the "House." A considerable amount of profit-taking was encountered in the Industrial sections, and this resulted in a lowering of quotations, but in the afternoon a slight recovery occurred, and prices generally closed above the lowest. Cables and Wireless were a particularly dull market. The rapid recovery which has taken place recently rendered the stocks particularly susceptible to the adverse character of the news regarding the Preference dividend, and big falls were shown in all the issues. Although there was a slackening noticeable in the demand for British Funds business was again carried on at a fairly brisk pace, and helped by the improvement in sterling prices continued to forge ahead. British Rails failed to attract any marked attention, but although movements were irregular they favoured holders on balance. Among Colonial and Foreign Rails Argentines continued on the up grade. Grand Trunks also gained fresh ground, but Can Pacs lost the turn. The cheerful conditions of the past few days were not repeated in the Industrial sections generally yesterday, and with a certain amount of profit-taking in progress the list of price movements returned at the end presented an irregular appearance. Among Mines, Rhodesians were in demand, and higher. Rubber Shares again showed a firm front, and some substantial rises occurred.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

CABLES AND WIRELESS ERRATIC.

There was less activity in the Industrial Market yesterday, but, nevertheless, quite a good turnover was reported. A certain amount of profit-taking was witnessed, and this caused a reaction in most sections during the early dealings. Later, however, fresh buying orders were received for some of the leading issues, and the tone at the close was described as moderately firm. The outstanding feature was provided by Cables and Wireless issues. The announcement that no dividend would be forthcoming on the Preference Stock, although not entirely unexpected, brought about a sharp fall in all the company's stocks, but a rally from the worst occurred before the close.

An easier tendency was noticeable in the Trans-Atlantic counters at the opening, but with Wall Street sending over supporting orders in the final dealings prices improved, and closed quietly firm.

Apart from Guys and Singers, Motor Shares were fairly well maintained.

There was still a good demand from Glasgow for Distillers, which finished 1s. 3d. higher at 48s. 3d. Of the other Brewery issues, Bass Ratcliff further advanced 2s. to 57s. 6d.

The Tobacco leaders gathered fresh strength during the afternoon. "Bats" were well supported, and closed 1/16 to the good at 4 1/16, while Carreras "A" were bid for at 3 11/16 and "Imps" at 4.

Woolworths were less active, and 6d. easier at 57s. 3d. Crosse and Blackwell Ordinary and Preference received fair attention, the former being marked up 3d. to 1s. and the latter 1s. 3d. to 5s. 3d.

Unilevers moved within narrow limits. Maypole Deferred at 3s. 10½d. were unaffected by the annual report.

Irregularity developed among Textiles. Patons and Baldwins and Whitworth and Mitchell came in for further support, and a demand was also noticeable for some of the Pref. issues. Bleachers, Bradford Dyers, Calico Printers and Sewing Cottons lost some of their recent improvement, the last-named reacting 1s. to 29s.

There was less doing in Rayons, and Courtaulds, after changing hands between 35s. and 36s. 10½d., finished unaltered on the day at 36s. 4½d.

Some irregularity developed in the Banking section, but Insurance descriptions continued firm.

British Aluminium were marked up 1s. 9d. to 29s. in the course of a moderate turnover. Borax Defd. were a strong spot, rising 1s. 6d. to 10s. 6d. Turner and Newalls eased to 31s. Chemicals were rather uncertain in the earlier dealings, although they received support in the "street" and finished a few pence higher. Kreuger and Toll were levelled to 9 following a little selling on Continental account, and Swedish Match dropped to 5 5/16.

RUBBER SHARES FIRM.

Although trading in the Rubber Share Market remained on extremely quiet lines, the firmer conditions which developed on Thursday continued, and at the close quotations showed substantial improvements in a number of directions, while in not a single instance did the day's business result in a decline. Kuala Lumpur were an outstanding feature, rising at 22s. 6d., this leaving them 3s. 9d. to the good, while Malacca put on 3s. 1½d. to 11s. 10½d. Eastern Trust at 12s. 6d. were also 3s. 1½d. better, and F.M.S. Plantations rallied to 11s. 10½d., or 2s. 6d. up on the day. Rubber Trusts spurted to 13s., 1s. 1½d. better than Thursday's close, and United Sua Betong, Tandjong Malim, Batu Tiga, and Anglo-Dutch all marked appreciable advances. Quiet conditions ruled in the raw material market, but values closed the turn higher. Spot opened at 2 5/16d., and went to 2⅜d. per pound, while March closed at the same level, after touching 2¼d. per pound. April to June fetched 2 7/16d. per pound. It is expected that the London stocks of rubber on Monday next will show a decline of something like 500 tons, but Liverpool stocks may be increased by 370 tons.

OIL SHARES HEAVY.

Although there was again a good turnover in Oil Shares yesterday the market had a much less animated appearance than of late. Having regard to the rapidity of the recent rise prices held well, for although movements shown at the close were mostly in the downward direction, the losses were small.

LONDON "STREET" MARKET.

The outstanding feature of the "street" market was the recovery in international counters under the lead of Radios, which firmed up 1⅛ to 14¼. Business, however, was not very extensive. U.S. Steel rose a point to 71, whilst Hydro advanced ⅛ to 16⅛. International Nickels were favoured and improved 5/16 to 12½, and Brazilian Traction added 3/16 to 18 11/16. United Molasses picked up a few pence at 9s. 7½d., whilst Imperial Chemicals were steady at 17s. 6d. Amongst Oil shares, Royal Dutch improved 1/16 to 19¾, but in the Mining section Chartereds receded a few pence to 23s. 9d.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

COMMERCIAL BUILDINGS.—7 per cent. (70/- per share), free of tax, for year ended December 31, 1931 (same).

PIM BROTHERS.—Dividend on 5½ per cent. Cum. Pref. Shares for half-year ended July 31, 1931.

DAVIS AND TIMMINS.—The full year's dividend on the Pref. Shares at the rate of 6½ per cent. per annum.

GENERAL ELECTRIC OF AMERICA.—Annual dividend rate reduced from $1.60 to $1. Earnings in 1931 were equivalent to $1.33 per share as compared with $1.90 the year before.

LAMBERT BROTHERS.—In view of the continued acute depression in all branches of the company's business, the board have decided to defer the consideration of the payment of a dividend on the Ord. Shares until the completion of the company's accounts for the financial year to 30th June, 1932. For the previous year an interim of 5 per cent. was paid on the Ord. Shares, less tax.

LONDON MINING MARKET HEAVY.

CHARTERED A BRIGHT SPOT.

There was a marked falling off in the volume of business in the Mining market yesterday. The Continent was a buyer of one or two issues, such as Tintos, Chartered and Tanks, but apart from these quotations of its favourites were inclined to droop. There was very little selling, the losses being small and representing a natural reaction from the high levels reached during the last few days.

KRUPPS LOSE £900,000.

24,000 EMPLOYES DISMISSED IN 18 MONTHS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

ESSEN, Friday.

A total loss of 13,415,000 marks—just over £900,000 at current rates—is shown in the report of Krupps for the year ended September 30 last. Of this sum 9,000,000 marks is covered from reserves, the remainder being carried forward. The directors express the view that the revival of the world's economic life and the restoration of confidence can only be expected after "a definite cancellation of international war burdens." All products from coal to steel slumped heavily, the report says, and this drop continued even into the first quarter of the new business year. Orders on hand are only a third of those in normal times. The number of employés fell by 18,000 to 56,000 during the 1931 business year, and since then another 6,000 have been dismissed.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

GOLD FOR EUROPE.

The P. and O. s.s. Ranchi, which is leaving Bombay to-day for Europe, will carry gold to the value of 16,518,000 rupees (£1,238,850) for London and 222,000 rupees (£16,650) for Amsterdam.

U.S. STOCK MARKET INQUIRY ORDERED.

A Washington telegram states that a general investigation into the "short selling" activities of certain Stock Exchanges which have recently been widely attacked in political circles hostile to Wall street, has been ordered by the Senate. A resolution to this effect was approved by the Banking Committee of the Senate on Thursday.

R.M.S.P. DISSENTIENTS.

Circulars posted last night to the "A" Debenture holders of the Elder Dempster Co. and to the 6 per cent. Debenture holders of the African Steamship Co. indicate that there will be some opposition to the R.M.S.P. scheme of reorganisation. The trustees in each case consider the arrangements proposed unfair to their Debenture holders. Points arising out of the proposed R.M.S.P. scheme of arrangement issued this week by the voting trustees are contained in a letter from the London Maritime Investment Company, Ltd., trustees for the 6 per cent. Debenture stockholders of the African Steamship Company, to the stockholders. The letter refers to the arrangement under which certain banks are retaining their mortgages on eight of the newest cargo vessels, and states:—"We are of opinion that the banks might, if necessary, have been given the option to come into the scheme on the same basis as the other mortgagees, or realise their security as they wished, but we have been unable to obtain from the voting trustees any modification on these lines." The letter concludes:—"For the above reasons, amongst others which have been brought to the notice of the voting trustees, we have, after consultation with several of the larger Debenture stockholders, come to the conclusion that we cannot recommend the scheme to the stockholders as a fair solution of the problem so far as it relates to the Elder Dempster group. The alternative, however, to acceptance of this scheme is the appointment of a receiver, which, in our opinion, presents even less attraction to the Debenture stockholders. We, therefore, consider that the stockholders would be well advised not to oppose the adoption of the scheme."

STANDARD LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

The total new business for the year ending 15th November, 1931 (after deducting sums re-assured), was £4,746,506, made up of—Life assurances, £2,763,993; capital redemption policies, £644,534; deferred annuities of value at pension age, £1,337,979. In addition, the sum of £848,518 was received for the purchase of immediate annuities. The following statement shows a comparison of the figures with those of the previous year:—

	Net total business. 1931. Amount. £	1930. Amount. £
Life Assurance	2,763,993	3,141,201
Capital Redemption	644,534	68,376

LONDON WOOL SALES.

Two catalogues were brought forward, totalling 9,586 bales. The market displayed firmer features under increased competition from home and Continental buyers, the latter absorbing fine merinos at full to dearer prices. Offerings of English, however, met a slow sale, and the bulk was withdrawn.

THE MONEY MARKET.

CHEAP TREASURY BILL RATE.

Applications were received at the Bank of England yesterday for £40,000 Treasury Bills. Tenders, dated Monday to Friday next at £99 6s. 10d., get about 40 per cent., above in full. Tenders, dated Saturday at £99 7s. and above, receive in full. The average rate per cent. indicated is about 2½, as compared with 3¼ last week.

Easy conditions revailed in Lombard Street yesterday, old day-to-day money going on at 3 per cent., while fresh advances until today were offering down to 2½ per cent.

The Bill market was weak owing to the low rate at which yesterday's Treasury Bills were allotted. French and American competition for the bills is reported as the cause of the keen demand for yesterday's issue. Fine three months' bank rate paper was quoted at 2⅞ to 3 per cent., and there were buyers of the "hot" Treasuries at 2 15/16 per cent. and under. The banks were inquiring for April and May bills at 2⅞ per cent.

Speculative selling was mainly responsible for a further decline in silver, the spot price easing ⅛d. and the forward quotation 3/16d. to 19¼d. and 19 3/16d. per ounce, respectively.

Gold fell 7d. to 118s. 2d. per ounce fine, at which price about £100,000 was disposed of in the market for the usual quarters.

The firmer tendency of sterling in terms of the principal gold currencies which developed after the removal of the restrictions on exchange purchases was again continued in the Foreign Exchange market yesterday, all the important rates closing at the highest for the day. The dollar rate finished 1¼c. higher on the day at 3.50¼, but the Canadian exchange remained at 3.93. Francs finished at 89¼, as compared with 83⅜. Swiss fancs improved by 7½c. to 18.15, Belgas by 10c. to 25.17½, and reichsmarks by 5pf. to 14.75. Dutch florins were finally quoted at 8.71½, as compared with 8.67½. The Italian rate rose by ¼ lira to 67⅜, and the Spanish rate by ¼ point to 45⅝. Norwegian kroner were slightly firmer on the day at 18.35. Argentine dollars weakened fractionally to 40 5/16d. The Japanese yen depreciated a further ⅛d. to 22⅛d.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL SALES.

At the sixth series of wool sales at Adelaide offerings, consisting of 31,700 bales, of which about 20 per cent. were passed in. There was a good selection. Values for best wools were 10 per cent. lower than at the January auctions at Adelaide, and those for medium quality wools and skirtings were 5 per cent. lower. Competition was good for all average fleece and skirtings, while the market for super and inferior sorts was irregular. Lamb's wool of combing length met with good demand, but the clothing descriptions were easier. Yorkshire, Australia, France and Japan were the principal operators in that order. The highest price obtained for greasy wool was 13¼d.

A VETERINARY MEASURE.

IRISH FREE STATE AGREEMENT BILL.

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Malcolm Macdonald (Under Secretary for Dominions) introduced the second reading of the Veterinary Surgeons (Irish Free State Agreement) Bill. He said that the bill confirmed the agreement reached between Great Britain and the Irish Free State with regard to the regulation and control of veterinary surgeons on the lines already agreed upon in the case of medical and dental professions.

The position originally was that the Royal College was enabled to hold examinations and grant diplomas in Ireland, but the Irish Free State being formed that position no longer held good. The two Governments negotiated with a view to regularising the position, but in the meantime the Royal College, at the request of the Free State, had continued to hold the examinations and to grant diplomas in Dublin.

This agreement was signed in December, 1930, and he now asked the House to confirm that agreement. The main principle was to establish a Council for the registration and control of veterinary surgeons in the Irish Free State. This Council would be in close connection with the Royal College, and four of its members were to sit as additional members of the Council of the Royal College itself. The examinations would be continued, and the granting of diplomas, as in the United Kingdom. There would be two registers—the old members and the new—and there was a provision by which a duly qualified person on one would be put on the other without further examination.

It had not been necessary for the Northern Ireland Government to sign the agreement, but they had concurred in the agreement.

The bill passed the second reading without a division, and will be committed to a Committee of the Whole House.

There was also no opposition to the second reading of the Northern Ireland (Miscellaneous Provisions) Bill.

Mr. Oliver Stanley (Under-Secretary to the Home Office) said that the bill, which had passed the Upper House, contained a series of unrelated amendments of existing machinery dealing with various branches of Government activities in Northern Ireland.

DUBLIN POTATO.—Trade was slightly better for week-end. Supplies, however, continue far in excess of all requirements, and values are barely maintained at 9/- per cwt. best qualities.

DUBLIN POULTRY.—Supply of all classes good for season, especially chickens. All choice quality arrivals met a steady demand at firm prices. Well-finished ducks inquired for at firm to dearer rates. Hen turkeys in fair demand, but cocks rather slow. Guinea fowl in feathers in request, also rabbits of best fresh quality. Game and wildfowl season now closed. Market, on the whole, was satisfactory, and business closed early. Prime chickens 11d. to 1/1 per lb., hens, large fat 2/- to 2/6 each, others 1/- to 1/6; ducklings, large fatted 3/6 to 4/-, stores 2/- to 2/6, old 1/- to 2/-; rabbits 11d. to 1/1, Guinea fowl in feathers 3/- to 3/6, turkeys, hens 1/- to 1/3 per lb., and cocks 10d. to 1/-.

DUBLIN BUTTER AND EGG.—Irish creamery butter is now in very small supply and any choice lots on offer are readily cleared at last day's prices. The supply of Australian butter on market continues good, and a steady trade is passing for the better grades, with late rates fairly well maintained. Irish factory in fair demand, with supplies ample for all requirements. Finest Irish creams, 166/- to 168/- per cwt.; Australian, 150/- to 154/-; and Irish factory, 1/- to 1/1 per lb. The new British tariff on eggs has given a fillip to export trade. Demand this week has been keen for cross-Channel centres at higher prices. Supplies to Dublin have been under average owing to strong export demand and all stocks are well cleared for city trade, which is good owing to low prices ruling, which show a dearer tendency at the following:—Extra selected, 16 and 17lb. grades, 9/6 to 10/6 case lots; ordinary and selected, 8/6 to 9/9; mediums, 8/- to 8/9; and ducks, which are rather scarce, 11/- to 12/- per 120, according to grade.

CORK BUTTER.—The market continues unchanged. Creameries 165/- per cwt.

DUBLIN FISH.—Herrings and salmon fairly plentiful, other classes scarce. Total arrivals to hand were:—20 packages salmon, 100 boxes herrings, and a fair amount from country and local senders. No lobsters on offer. Demand equal to an early sell-up at:—Salmon 1/6 to 1/8 lb.; soles 20/- to 25/- per 9 pairs large, medium 10/- to 12/6; slips 2/6 to 5/-, turbot, small and large 6d. to 6/- each, brill 6d. to 4/-, herrings 12/6 to 25/- box, plaice, small and large 15/- to 60/- half box, cod 15/- to 25/-, and ray 10/- to 15/-.

BILLINGSGATE FISH.—Salmon, English 18d. to 19d., Scotch 19d. to 20d., Irish 17d. to 18d.; soles 11d. to 20d., slips 12d. to 18d. per pound; live eels 10/- to 27/-, dead 8/- to 24/-, draught turbot 14/- to 16/-, brill 10/- to 11/-, plaice 6/- to 14/-, halibut 14/- to 16/-, lemon soles 8/- to 13/-, hake 8/- to 10/-, skate wings 4/- to 5/-, haddocks 2/- to 6/- per stone.

PRODUCE.

LONDON.—SUGAR—Spot market presented dull features, but no change was made in prices of British refined or granulated from the inland factories. T.L. granulated London 19/- ex refinery, raw refining descriptions quiet of sale while freely offered at recent rates. OILCAKES—Linseed Cakes—Values at the moment are irregular, and until they adjust themselves and become more stable both buyers and sellers are content to hold off pending the effect the enhanced prices are likely to have on the consumptive demand. English makes are still held at the relatively high prices of £8 to £8 5/-, while some fine quality Calcuttas and Spanish are obtainable at £7 5/- to £7 10/- duty free. Cotton Cakes—Arrived parcels of Egyptian have changed hand at £4 5/- ex ship plus duty, and there are sellers for equal monthly shipments during February, March and April at the same figure. London made are without change at £5 2/6 to £5 5/-. Decorticated Cotton Cakes—Landed lots of 51 per cent. screw pressed Argentines offer at £7 15/- to £8, while afloat parcels are quoted at £7 10/- duty paid. Offals—English straight run middlings are only procurable in limited quantity, and quotations are firmly held up at £6 5/- to £6 10/-, with bran fully as dear at £6 10/- for ordinary and £7 10/- for broad. Fancy Plate middlings remain good value at £6 15/-, and Plate pollards at £6 per ton ex store. Maize Foods—Garton's maize gluten feed finds a ready sale at £6, while flake maize is quoted a £7, maize germ meal at £6 5/-, and finely ground English maize meal at £6 per ton, all ex factory.

OILS—Linseed easier; spot sellers 18/3, March 15/7½, April 15/10½, May-August 16/7½, September-December 17/10½. Cotton dull; crude Egyptian spot 23/-, common edible 27/6, deodorised 29/6. Turpentine strong; American spot 59/6, April 60/- per cwt. OILSEEDS—Linseed—Market quiet, and prices barely steady; Plate to Hull March-April sellers £8 17/6, April-May, also May-June £9, June-July £9 2/6. Cottonseed steady; Egyptian black March, also April £6 16/3, May £6 17/6, with white sorts at 5/- per ton less respectively. Groundnuts firmer; Coromandel March £18 12/6, April £18 13/9, May £18 15/-, June £18 17/6, July £19. Soya Beans firm; Manchurian afloat £8 1/3, March, also April £7 15/- per ton.

LIVERPOOL.—CANE SUGAR quiet, with sellers March shipment at 6/2¼ per cwt. c.i.f. to U.K. COCOA—West African on spot firmer, but demand limited. Fine fermented Accra on spot held for 31/- ex store, and buyers at 30/- in bond. "Futures" firm, with buyers at 1½d. to 3d. advance on the previous close, and tending dearer. Business done in May at 28/9, and July 30/- and 29/9 per cwt. COFFEE steady, but quiet. HEMP—Manila dull and easier, with business in K. grade February-April shipments £18, and March-May £18 5/- per ton c.i.f. terms. JAPANESE PEAS on spot held for £28 15/- to £29, and February-March and March-April shipments for £25 15/- to £26 per ton c.i.f. terms. RICE BRAN—Burmah March-June shipments continue at 100/- per ton ex ship terms, with a quiet trade. OIL CAKES—Imported brands still in quiet demand. American Linseed steady at £8, and River Plate £8 5/- c.i.f. March shipments, with Egyptian undecorticated Cottonseed March shipments offering at £4 12/6 ex ship terms. PALM KERNELS firm; sellers March-April and April-May shipments £12 10/-, and buyers £12 8/9 per ton. Sales, April-May £12 10/- per ton. TALLOW steady, but inactive. South American sellers quoting [illegible]

April and May shipments c.i.f. No. 1 frigorific. Packers continue to hold off.

LIVERPOOL SUGAR.—Tate and Lyle, Ltd., quotations—Crystals, ones 22/6; granulated, standard 20/4½; yellows, thirds 20/3.

MISCELLANEOUS.

DUBLIN HAY AND STRAW.—Hay supplies fairly good, quality on the whole showed improvement. Much the same number of buyers in attendance, who appeared to be more in want of choice qualities, and salesmen found no difficulty in repeating last day's top prices for choice first crop, with an extra threepence per cwt. mentioned in one case. Strong old meadow classes were decidedly better, in fact, anything of useful class quickly sold to more money. Poorer sorts, however, were still a dragging sale, but few loads were on hands coming on to eleven o'clock. Choice 1st crop 4/3 to 4/6, extra 4/9 per cwt.; 2nd and 3rd 3/9 to 4/-, old meadow, best 2/9 to 3/-, extra 3/3 to 3/6, secondary and inferior classes 2/- to 2/6. A very small supply of straw came on market, especially wheaten. Quality, on the whole, was disappointing, and, although more choice loads could have been sold, prices were impossible to better. Market, however, cleared fairly early at:—Oaten 3/- to 3/3 and 3/6 per cwt., and wheaten 3/6 to 3/9, both according to quality.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.

NEW YORK, Friday.

The Stock Exchange was irregular at to-day's opening, with the movements of quotations confined to narrow limits. After showing a slight sagging tendency the bullish activity of various speciality issues gave the market a firm tone, and many of the leading issues recovered about a point. The market, however, remained largely of a professional nature, although there was bidding-up of Utilities, Chain-Stores, and Foods.

The weekly mercantile reviews continued to report little change in the general conditions.

A moderate reaction developed in the late trading, following a reduction in General Electrics' quarterly dividend to 25 cents., as against 40 cents. previously, but support reappeared on the set-back. The market closed steady.

90 Years' Progress.

When commencing the manufacture of "EMERALD" Balanced Rations for all stock, we determined that the quality should not only maintain, but enhance our reputation, and we are proud of the fact that it has done so.

"EMERALD" Pig Meal is an outstanding example; it is a complete food, requires no cooking, can be fed wet or dry, and with nothing else but water, fattens economically and rapidly, producing a fine firm pig.

JAMES H. NORTH & CO.'S SALES
AT 110 GRAFTON STREET

TUESDAY NEXT, 8TH MARCH,
17 PEARSE STREET,

By Directions of Mr. Emery, who is retiring from the business of Sculptor and Stone Cutter in consequence of ill-health.

A comparatively newly built three storey building, in the best part of Pearse street, close to Tara street, with a passage at the side which could be covered over to extend the existing marble works, or to make a separate shop. Portion of the ground floor, consisting of shop and workshop, with small yard, is let at £96 4s. 0d. per annum. The remaining portion of the ground floor is in the occupation of the vendor, and consists of showroom, opening into spacious workshop at rear. The showroom connects with spacious 3-floored workroom at rear. At the rear of this workshop is a store. Both the workroom and the store open into a well-kept concrete lane off Townsend street, providing excellent rear entrances to the premises.

The upper part of the building, fronting Pearse street, consists of three floors, with sanitary accommodation on each floor. The first floor is let at £65 per annum, the second floor is let at £52 per annum. The top floor, a studio, with overhead light, is vacant.

The front premises, consisting of the front showroom, the shop let to a tenant, and three storeys over, are held for 95 years from 1st July, 1885, subject to £30 per annum. The workshop, with two floors over, is held for 75 years from 1st January, 1883, at a rent now adjusted to £20 per annum, and the store at rear for 35 years from 1st January, 1907, at a rent of £4 per annum. The passage at side has been in possession of the vendor and his predecessor for 45 years. A purchaser will have possession of the entire premises, save the shop and first and second floors, which produce £213 4s. 0d. per annum. P.L.V., £89.
